Haskins, Barrat and French New Board

HASKINS REMAINS CHAIRMAN

Okanagan Support Goes to Haskins, French, Wilkinson but Kootenays and Main Line Support Old Board

WILKINSON RUNS WELL

Kelowna District Gives the Old Board Slight Majority

W. E. Haskins, George Barrat and Percy French will form the new B.C. Fruit Board for the ensuing year. Such was the verdict of the fruit growers of the Okanagan, Kootenays and Main Line in the ballots which were counted on Wednesday.

W. E. Haskins remains chairman of the board by virtue of his leading the poll with 1231 votes.

G. A. Barrat was runner up with 1082 votes while Percy French takes the third place on the board with 940 votes.

Haskins and Barrat were former members of the board but French is a newcomer. He replaces W. O. Hembling on the board. Hembling ran in fourth position with 893 votes while Thos. Wilkinson, the fifth aspirant, polled 872.

Sixteen hundred and ninety-eight of the twenty-five hundred and forty registered growers cast their ballots. In that total there were eighteen spoiled ballots.

Haskins obtained his lead by polling a surprisingly large vote in the southern districts. He led in Keremeos, Naramata, Osoyoos, Penticton, Sorrento and Summerland and in all other districts was well up with the leaders.

The southern districts failed to treat the other members of the board, Barrat and French very kindly, but in the Kootenays and the northern districts they ran well.

Wilkinson and French polled large votes in the south but in the remoter districts their support was light as they were not as well known in those areas.

In the Kelowna district, running from Winfield to Peachland, inclusive, the three members of the present board led the polls. Barrat with 291 led, while Haskins with 262, Hembling with 239, Wilkinson with 222 and French with 209 followed in that order.

In the north Barrat led the poll with 111 with Hembling pressing with 109. Turn to Page 6, Story 4

FIRE TEAM GOES TO VANCOUVER FOR BRIGADE CONTESTS

Kelowna Volunteers to Defend Honors Won Last Year at Fire Chiefs' College at Vernon

Kelowna is represented at the B.C. Fire Chiefs' Association College at North Vancouver this week with a snappy team of fire fighters from the local brigade, intent on capturing once more the coveted honors for the best hose and ladder work. Last year at Vernon, the Kelowna volunteers swept the competitions and were awarded top honors.

The college opened on Tuesday, May 30 and will continue until Friday, June 2. It is stated the Kelowna drill team is composed of Bill Sands, Jim Robert and Ernie Winters while Fred Gore, assistant fire marshal will be the drill instructor there. Fire Chief J. D. Pettigrew was unable to make the trip.

Instructors from many points along the Pacific Coast will be present to show the latest methods in fire fighting to the college attendees.

New Canadian Law to Stamp Foreign Propaganda Passes House

Naturalized Foreigners to Lose Canadian Citizenship Upon Conviction

Naturalization certificates of persons of foreign birth who spread objectionable propaganda may be cancelled. Mr. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, told the House of Commons on Tuesday, as his new official secrets law passed through second and third reading.

Foreign government representatives in Canada have been advised that it is not their duty to interfere with naturalized citizens who were former nationals of their countries, the Minister told the House in answer to A. A. Heaps (C.C.F., Winnipeg North) who raised the question of Nazi espionage and propaganda.

Mr. Lapointe said he hoped his statement about naturalization certi-

"You are standing in a puddle." His Majesty the King said to Miss Evelyn Scott, leader of the Rutland Girl Guides, at Revelstoke on Sunday. "It's worth it," Miss Scott replied, while the King and Queen laughed. The King, the Queen, Miss Scott and the puddle are seen as the camera caught them. The Guides behind are Rutland and Kelowna girls. Miss French, Rutland teacher, is seen between Miss Scott and the Queen. Mrs. Hardman, wife of the Mayor of Revelstoke is seen at the extreme left in the white coat.

The King Chats with Scout Commissioner Weddell

One of the highlights of the Royal visit to Revelstoke was the long chat the King had with Scout Commissioner Weddell of Kelowna. The King, in rain coat and with back to camera, is seen here as he asks about the Kelowna scouts and tells Mr. Weddell about his own boys' camp at Southwold, England. The scouts are mostly from Kelowna. At the extreme left Bishop Adams and Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King are seen in close conversation, while immediately ahead of them stands Hon. Ian Mackenzie. Mrs. Hardman, wife of the Revelstoke mayor, is seen in the foreground in the white coat while the Queen may be seen, an interested spectator standing just in front of the man with the bald head.

LEAVE FOR NELSON

This morning four members of the Kelowna Junior Board of Trade are leaving by car for Nelson where they will attend the B.C. Junior Chamber of Commerce convention on Friday and Saturday. They are D. C. Hill, past president of the local junior board, J. R. Armstrong, recording secretary and secretary of the B.C. body, W. W. Riddell, local executive member and Malcolm Chapin, chairman of the boys welfare committee.

Twenty-five Thousand Gather At Main Line Points to Welcome Canada's Beloved King and Queen

Most Okanagan People go to Revelstoke but Sicamous and Kamloops Draw Share—Their Majesties Mingle Freely With Crowds at All Three Places—E. C. Weddell, O. St. P. Aitkens and Miss E. Scott of Rutland all Meet King and Queen—King Tells Miss Scott She is Standing in a Puddle of Water—"It's Worth It," she Replies—All Persons Had Excellent Closeups of Royal Couple—Ten Thousand from Valley go to Revelstoke by Special Train and Automobiles—Flooded Section of Highway Causes Slight Inconvenience—Rain Fails to Dampen Enthusiasm at Revelstoke and Sicamous

Their Majesties Win Hearts of Okanagan Subjects

TWENTY-FIVE thousand persons from the Interior of British Columbia, a large percentage of whom were from the Okanagan, jammed the Revelstoke, Kamloops and Sicamous station grounds to give King George and His Queen a boisterous and loyal welcome upon their entry into this province. Between ten and twelve thousand saw Their Majesties at Revelstoke, while a similar number crowded the Kamloops station grounds and another three thousand were at Sicamous.

While Revelstoke was not an official stop, it was known the train would be serviced there and, as it was a daylight stop most of the Okanagan people went to that mountain city where the King and Queen strolled among the crowd for half an hour and every person in the crowd had several splendid opportunities to see the Royal Couple close at hand.

Sicamous, also was not an official stop but there Their Majesties appeared on the observation platform of the train for about fifteen minutes.

Kamloops saw less Okanagan people than either of the other places and, while the facilities were excellent, the general opinion is that less favorable views were obtained there due to the necessity of flood lighting. The train stopped about half an hour.

Rain failed to dampen the ardor of the crowds at Revelstoke where the King appeared wearing the same grey checked suit which he wore in the pictures carried in the special supplement issued by The Courier last week. He wore a gaberdine and a hat with brim turned down all round. After the first few seconds he carried his hat. At Kamloops he had changed to a dark suit.

The Queen at Revelstoke appeared in what newsmen on the train claimed was the most stunning costume she had worn since her arrival in Canada. To match her eyes, dress, coat and hat were a deep sky blue. Her long light, wool coat, falling to the hem of her simply designed crepe frock, was split almost to the hips at both sides, giving a pannelled effect as she walked. Deep double bands of blue fox marked the below-elbow sleeves and prominently upon her left lapel, she wore the diamond maple leaf pin which His Majesty gave her just before they left for Canada. She wore two strings of pearls. Her hand-turned, high-crowned hat was caught close to her head in a skull-cap effect at the back, brimming out at the front. Smooth feathers in cyclamen shade splashed color on the crown and front. Her high-heeled pumps were dull grey suede while her stockings were grey. She did not carry a bag.

The crowds reacted strangely at the appearance of the Royal Couple. Upon the arrival there were loud and prolonged cheering but as soon as Their Majesties left the train there were deep silences, as though the crowds were too overcome with emotion to voice their enthusiasm. As they moved along the platforms, some person would start a cheer which would be picked up and in rising crescendo reached from the adjacent mountains. Then another solemn hush, as every ear was strained to catch a word spoken by the King or Queen, every eye strained to catch every detail.

The King appeared a friendly, shy gentleman, a little embarrassed at being the centre of all eyes. Boyish of appearance, of medium height and well-tanned, he keenly observed everything that transpired and appeared anxious that all who had come so many miles might not be disappointed. His keen eyes noticed every nod and his solicitude for the children won every heart.

The Queen charmed the people of the Okanagan just as she has brought the people of every community across Canada under her spell. Far more beautiful than portrayed by camera or artist's brush, she had an undefinable, elusive charm which strikes straight to the heart. Gentian blue is the only term to describe Her Majesty's eyes, so blue that color camera or artist's brush would be accused of exaggeration if they reproduced them as they really are.

Her Majesty has a charming smile which gives the beholder the impression that it is meant for him alone. It is a friendly smile which comes readily and good naturedly; no forced "duty" smile, this. The Queen seemed to thoroughly enjoy herself. If she did not she is a good actress, for every person in the thousands who saw her Sunday felt that she was wishing she had time to shake hands with each person. Every person felt that he had been introduced and was already an intimate friend.

SICAMOUS

by R.P.M.
"Move back there and let those children through. Move back and get those children closer. They aren't going to hurt me. Move back and let them in."

These words spoken by His Majesty the King, standing on the observation platform of the Royal train at Sicamous, and addressed to members of the R.C.M.P. and the B.C. police, formed the highlight of Their Majesties' fifteen minute stop at that point.

Over two thousand persons from all sections of the Okanagan from Oliver to Salmon Arm crowded the station grounds and pressed around the observation platform of the Royal train upon which Their Majesties appeared during the fifteen minute stay the King made at that point.

The police had taken up their station around the observation platform of the train and were blocking the 40 children and other spectators off. The 30 King insisted that the police move back and let the children through.

REVELSTOKE

by R.P.M.
As the pilot train pulled in, both the Revelstoke band and the newspaper men who are covering the Royal tour poured out upon the platform in the midst of a din which they described as the "most noise-making reception" they had experienced. The pilot train carried American, British and Canadian newspaper men and women representing the leading papers in the English speaking world. Half a dozen of these men expressed surprise to me that so many persons had gathered in Revelstoke which they understood was merely a railway town in the heart of the mountains. They were amazed when I told them that the majority of the people had come by train or car over a hundred miles of mountain roads on the off-chance of seeing the King and Queen there.

Several of these men asked about the Okanagan and one of two showed

by J.R.A.
I saw the King and Queen at Kamloops. The thrill of standing on Sunday evening, May 26, amidst 12,000 cheering men, women and children of all nationalities and many creeds, to hear the heartfelt cheers of applause so spontaneous in their ever increasing volume as Their Gracious Majesties, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth appeared on the rear platform of the beautiful blue and silver royal train, was one which will live long in the memory. It was a history making event which sent shivers of delight and awe up and down one's spinal column. Everywhere there was joy and happiness to think that the King and Queen of Canada, the figureheads of the Empire upon which the sun never sets, should honor the humble gathering with their charming presence. Never before in the history of Kamloops.

COURIER COVERS HISTORIC VISIT

Citizens of Kelowna and district were appreciative of the two-color supplement issued by The Courier in commemoration of the visit of King George and Queen Elizabeth last Thursday. A large number of extra copies were obtained by local persons to send to their friends in distant 10 lands.

This week The Courier has given a complete coverage of the main interior points at which Their Majesties made an appearance. This issue should prove to be historic in that it is the only paper, to our knowledge which

START WORK ON RUTLAND BUILDING

Excavation work on the new $60,000 storage plant of the Rutland K.C.B.E. has been completed and construction of the building itself is being started. W. Vance, manager of the Kelowna Growers' Exchange, states the building is 80 feet by 140 feet and will be four stories in height with a capacity of 120,000 boxes. Building construction will take half the total cost. The refrigeration is to be installed by the Canadian Ice Machine Co. at Vancouver and the total job is to be finished by August 15, states Mr. Vance.

that they had an intimate knowledge of this valley, although they had never been here.

Colorful Scene

The news men were astounded at the colorful spectacle made by the emerald sward of the bank, lined as it was by multi-colored frocks of adults and children. They pronounced it the most colorful sight seen on the entire tour and several hastened to take color photographs and movies.

"Why do they wear such bright colors in the rain," the London, Eng. Times representative asked me.

"Well," I replied, "the people of the Okanagan naturally dress in colorful clothes. We have such unusually fine weather that we do not fear the rain. Naturally when they were coming over a hundred miles to see their King and Queen, they were not going to wear drab and colorless garments. Possibly, too, as they are not used to such weather as this, it comes as a rude shock to them. However, I will wager that not one soul out there is sorry that those clothes were put on this morning."

A bit of baloney, perhaps, but the Englishman seemed to like it and asked several more questions about Okanagan weather and apples.

As the pilot train pulled out the sun broke through and a large patch of blue sky was in evidence but to the west a storm could be seen coming up Eagle Pass. It soon arrived and the sun and blue sky were wiped out by the heaviest rainfall of the day.

Royal Train Arrives

The Royal train was farther behind the pilot than had been expected but the crowd had had a definite indication that the Royal party was close at hand and passed the time in good-natured jesting, a bit of singing and in urging the bands to greater efforts.

Soon the whisper ran round, "She's on the block," meaning that the train had entered the Revelstoke railway "block" and then the big blue and silver stream-lined engine came slowly round the bend and passed the station. As car after car slowly passed the official group on the platform the band struck up "God Save The King" and the crowd stood rigidly but sang the anthem with heartfelt enthusiasm in one loud voice. As the anthem ended the train stopped without a tremor within one inch of the line indicated.

Their Majesties Appear

The porter appeared and wiped the railing of the steps and a roar went up that echoed and re-echoed from Mt. Begbie to Mt. Revelstoke and reverberated down the miles of the great Columbia. Amid a continuous roar their Majesties appeared. The Queen first, with the King immediately behind. They stood on the observation platform for some seconds surveying the crowd and then stepped to the platform. An equerry handed Her Majesty an umbrella—a plain, old fashioned, black umbrella—which she carried for a few seconds and then discarded.

Hon. Ian MacKenzie who was to perform the introductions came running down the platform, morning coat flying behind him, but he was too late. Mayor W. Hardman of Revelstoke had introduced himself and presented Mrs. Hardman. The King introduced the Queen.

After a few words of greeting the party started to walk along the platform. The Queen evinced much interest in the Vernon kiltie band and the Revelstoke citizens band. She could be seen sizing up the tartan of the kilties' uniform.

The King noticed Inspector John MacDonald of the B.C. police from Nelson, who was in charge of the police for the day. The King obviously asked Mayor Hardman who the Inspector was and then shook hands with him and chatted for a moment. The Royal group moved slowly down the side of the station building and around behind, stopping now and then to speak to a school child. They passed the group of aged people and moved to the other side of the building where the officials of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire and of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion were presented.

A huge white English bulldog at the feet of a returned man caught the Queen's eye. She drew the King's attention to it and they chatted with the proud owner for a moment.

Moving slowly along the lines of returned men, scouts, guides and other organizations, Their Majesties were in full view of the huge crowd which was continuously pressing against the rear rank of the veterans. One official suggested that they walk along the platform but they refused to do so and walked along the ties of the railway siding immediately in front of the crowd.

E. C. Weddell Has Long Chat

Scoutmaster E. C. Weddell of Kelowna was honored by having the longest chat of the day with the King. His Majesty asked Mr. Weddell where the scouts came from and was told that they were residents of the Revelstoke district and the Okanagan Valley. He asked how many Mr. Weddell had brought and was told that there were over a hundred from Kelowna and Rutland and that some had come nearly two hundred miles.

His Majesty asked numerous questions about the Okanagan and how the people were getting on.

Mr. Weddell, knowing the King was very interested in the scout movement and boys' work generally, asked if he might express his appreciation of His Majesty's camp at Southwold, England, which he thought was doing a wonderful work.

"That started him off," Mr. Weddell said, "and from that time on I did not say a word. He talked a steady stream about that camp. He did say that he was considering bringing the camp to Canada."

"I did not think he looked particularly tired," Mr. Weddell replied to a question. "He certainly seemed in good spirits and he spoke in a very firm voice and spoke very quickly. It was a pleasure to listen to him and a thrill to have him speak to me. When he talked so long about the Southwold camp, I was embarrassed."

Miss Scott of Rutland

Miss Evelyn Scott is still excited about meeting the King and Queen at Revelstoke. Miss Scott is Guide captain at Rutland and resides with Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Granger.

Their Majesties approached Miss Scott, accompanied by Mayor Hardman, who enquired as to Miss Scott's identity. Then she was introduced to the Royal couple.

"My, you look terribly wet," remarked Queen Elizabeth.

"Yes, and you're standing in a bit of a puddle," added King George.

"Oh, but it is worth it," immediately replied Miss Scott.

Then Their Majesties asked where Miss Scott came from and she replied from a small community near Kelowna.

"Where is that," asked the Queen. "It is 150 miles from here in the Okanagan Valley," replied Miss Scott. "We have been standing here since 3 o'clock, when we first paraded."

"How will you get home tonight," queried His Majesty and Mayor Hardman replied that special trains had been provided.

"I am glad of that," said King George as the party moved along the line, and he expressed anxiety over the long journey home for the youngsters who were by then soaking wet.

Their Majesties walked the entire length of the long Revelstoke station platform and then turned to come back. Mrs. Hardman and the Queen were walking along the platform and apparently the crowd could not see the Queen. A shout went up, "We want to see the Queen."

Her Majesty apparently heard the shout for with a gay smile towards the crowd she immediately moved to the outside of the platform where the crowd had an unobstructed view.

Again reaching the rear of the train the Royal Couple paused a moment. The Queen was heard to say to the King, "Have we missed anything?" as she glanced to right and left. Her eye caught the body of Revelstoke militia drawn up around the end of the train. She spoke to the king and they moved off down the platform to see these men.

An they returned to the rear of the train the crowd broke the police lines and swarmed around them. Children and adults crowded to within a few feet of Their Majesties. For five minutes they stood and chatted with the crowd while cameras snapped.

"Your a mousie lassie," shouted one obvious Scot and was rewarded with a charming smile.

Half an hour after the arrival, and long after the train had headed impatiently, Their Majesties mounted the observation platform and the train began to move smoothly westward.

A railwayman standing next this reporter waved his arm and shouted, "God bless you and good luck."

The Queen heard and replied, "The same to you, chaps!"

The train slowly gathered way and was speeded westward by the cheers and hand-waving of half a score thousands of emotionally-trained loyal subjects. The King and Queen remained waving adieu until the train had rounded the bend out of sight.

The crowd had seen its King and Queen. Despite the rain, it had been a perfect day, for were not Their Majesties real people, unassuming, interested in everything? Had they not completely captivated the heart of every person in the throng?

Many from Kelowna

The C.P.R. special to Revelstoke out of Kelowna arrived with thirteen cars and six hundred and ninety-seven passengers while the Vernon train almost had an equal number with six hundred and thirty-six.

While nearly fourteen hundred residents of the Okanagan went to the mountain city by train, the great majority of them travelled by car. All night long the cars roared northwards. The ferry ran most of Saturday night and from two in the morning the cars were passing through Vernon in a steady stream. One Vernon man made a check at about eight o'clock and counted twenty cars passing in five minutes.

Heavy Traffic

Hundreds of cars went north from Kelowna. At seven o'clock there were ten to twenty cars in sight on any stretch of the road between Kelowna and Vernon and from Armstrong north it was just one long procession. The road was, generally speaking in fine shape. The poorest stretch of the whole trip was that section between Kelowna and Vernon. Many people had anticipated a disagreeable trip from the dust but the recent rains had taken care of that and the trip was very free from dust.

The road from Sicamous to Revelstoke was in fine shape. It had been graded well the previous day and its condition surprised men who use it habitually.

Flooded Section

The only incident on the whole trip which caused any concern was a stretch of about a hundred yards, twenty miles from Revelstoke, which was flooded. There had been a heavy rain in the mountains on Saturday night and the Eagle River, unable to carry the water away at this point, had backed up over the low-lying road.

The flooded section caused little trouble to most of the cars. One or two did get stuck but most of them who took it cautiously negotiated it without great difficulty.

About fifty cars were left at this point and their occupants boarded the train out of Vernon to travel the last twenty miles of the trip. On the return trip these people left by train and picked their cars up.

Return Trip

Returning, no cars were permitted to leave Revelstoke until seven o'clock. The police stated that there were three reasons for this action. There had been reports that a number of persons were going to try to catch the Royal train again at Sicamous and the police rightly thought this would probably lead to accidents on the mountain road. The regular west-bound CPR was due to go through about six thirty and it was feared that there might be an accident at one or more of the numerous level crossings.

The third argument for the delay was that it gave the road department an hour longer to get the flooded section into shape.

At six o'clock 100 cars were lined up from the Columbia River bridge to the Revelstoke business district. Hundreds more had not bothered to move into line. The bridge was opened at seven and the long procession moved forward. After certain adjustments the line settled into a steady thirty miles an hour and proceeded without incident.

Highway men and three trucks had been working the better part of the day putting gravel on the flooded stretch. The road was still flooded at night but there was little difficulty. Trucks were ready to assist if any car failed to get across under its own power.

At no time during the day was the water deeper than one foot and cars were negotiating it all day.

Happy Crowd

It was a happy holiday crowd at Revelstoke. They were there to see their King and his Queen and rain could not dampen their spirits. The long hour of waiting in a "Scotch" mill failed to dull their ardor and the time was spent in joking and repartee with their neighbors. At three-fourteen the sun broke through and a loud cheer citizens band stayed in the rain. Between the arrival of the trains, some devilment-inspired school youngster started to shout "We want the kilties." The cry was taken up and assumed such proportions that it could not be ignored. The kilties looked at the weather and turned deaf ears to the shouts of the crowd. Then out stepped the band leader, the leader of the citizen's band and a great cheer arose from the crowd while the kilties looked a little sheepish.

Revelstoke Scouts Courteous

The Revelstoke boy scouts certainly did their town proud. They were the most obliging group of boys one could imagine. Courteous and anxious to be of assistance, they were the centre of many pleasing incidents which came to this reporter's ears. Revelstoke should give a vote of thanks to its boy scouts. They were good advertising for the town.

Police Did Good Job

The provincial police in charge deserve a word of commendation. They good humoredly handled the crowd effectively. And they were considerate. The late comers and those off the trains were made to go to the rear and not permitted to stand in front of the hundreds which had already been holding vantage points for hours. Police officials usually are not so considerate.

The same thing happened in the evening when the line of cars stretched from the bridge to the business section and beyond and a few worms driving cars endeavored to sail past the entire line and crowd into the front ranks. The police did not for the most part let them get away with it but turned them back to the rear of the line. Two of them did manage to sneak in, much to the disgust of the cars which had been waiting in line for some time. It is odd how in every crowd there are always some who are of the opinion they have divine right or something else which entitles them to crowd in front of or ahead of persons who have deliberately planned to be early and have been in line for some time. Every line up of cars sees some of these worms behind the wheels who pull out of line and endeavor to crowd others out of their rightful place.

Speaking generally the police did a good job at Revelstoke and did it without any undue fuss. The only untoward incident this reporter observed happened just as the Royal train was pulling into the station. One of the Revelstoke bandmen was taking a picture of the train when a nearby cop gave him a shove which nearly sent him on his ear and seized his camera. It all seemed so unnecessary as the cop was doing no harm and there has been widespread publicity to the fact that persons could take all the pictures they wanted and he was only taking the train. A few minutes later scores of cameras were focused on the Royal couple. It was just another incident of a cop losing his head.

First Loud Cheer

The first loud cheer raised in the afternoon was given the Kelowna guides, scouts, cubs, brownies, sea cadets and others as they marched smartly, with banners flying, along the platform after the local train pulled into the station. The Kelowna people in the crowd were justly proud of the showing. These Kelowna organizations drew much favorable comment by the smart appearance and orderly marching. It warmed the cockles of any Kelownian's heart to see those youngsters and young men march along that platform.

Well Arranged

The whole layout was well arranged. The mayor and his group were at the extreme east end of the platform near the kiosk. Beside the kiosk the two bands were stationed and adjacent to the bands were the seats reserved for the elderly people.

The school children were placed on the green slope of the bank at this end of the station and after they had taken their place the public was allowed to take up positions on the bank.

At the western side of the station a line had been drawn about thirty feet from the edge of the platform and it was along this line that the earlycomers took up their stand. Later it is true that the veterans, guides, scouts, brownies and cubs moved in in front of the line but except in the case of the veterans, the view from behind was not obstructed greatly. The public crowded this space between the white line and the retaining wall of the bank.

An indication of the many difficulties which confronted the officials, was the box of wild flowers sent by Sicamous children to the Revelstoke station to be presented to the Queen.

The railway men did not know what to do with them as no gifts could be put aboard the Royal train. It is rumored, however, that one enterprising railway man took charge of the box with the assurance that he would see it reached the proper authorities. It is presumed that somewhere between Revelstoke and Sicamous the Queen received the flowers.

Not Good Enough

The following story is told about Pablo Casals, who recently played with the London Symphony Orchestra. A proud mother with a "cellist" daughter said to Casals: "The critics say she played Brahms' Sonata as well as you." "That is not nearly good enough," replied Casals.

Dr. Reba Willits Tells Westbank W.I. of Canadian Cancer Society

Educational Program and Research Work Outlined—Many Westbank Residents See King and Queen

Dr. Reba Willits' informal talk on the work of the Canadian Society for the Control of Cancer, given to members and visitors at the regular meeting of Westbank Women's Institute, on Thursday, May 25, proved both informative and interesting.

Dr. Willits stated, in her opening remarks, that this Society was founded in memory of the Silver Jubilee of the reign of King George V, and was started purely for the education of the people. It has for its object the raising of sufficient money to purchase radium for the treatment of cancer patients in Canada, and to teach the people more about cancer by distributing literature regarding treatment of the disease, symptoms, cases cured, furthering research work, and to help necessitous patients to obtain treatment.

Primarily a society for the layman, anyone may become a member on the payment of an annual fee of $1.00, three-quarters of which is kept in the provincial branch. The other quarter goes to the national office at Toronto to be used in administration, etc. All of those doing any work in the society do so without remuneration. British Columbia, for instance, is divided into nine districts, and in each of these units three doctors and three laymen comprise a committee. The local unit has its headquarters at Kamloops and is represented by one of the committee at its meetings. Each unit is also represented at meetings held in Vancouver, from which centre a member is sent to attend the grand council at Toronto.

Learn of Treatment

While the cause of cancer is still unknown, continued the speaker, a great deal has been learned about the successful treatment of cases by deep X-Ray, radium and surgery. Many so-called cures are reported, and each of these is investigated, in the possibility that any one of them may be worthwhile.

There were one thousand deaths from cancer in B.C. last year, and while this may seem a heavy toll, there was also a fifty per cent increase in cures, which means a fifty per cent improvement in the treating of cases. In describing cancer, Dr. Willits stressed the vital necessity of treatment in early stages of the disease, while it is still curable, before it has entered the blood stream, the lymphatic glands, etc. The earlier the disease is recognized, the greater are the chances of a cure.

Dr. Willits also spoke of the work of the Preventorium and voiced her gratitude for the work that Westbank has done to assist that institution in the past, and for the gifts brought to the meeting that day in response to the "showers" held annually by the Institute. Of the loss to the district in the death of Dr. Ootmar, Dr. Willits also spoke briefly, a loss felt throughout the Valley.

The business of the meeting was conducted before the arrival of the speaker, and reports were received dealing with the cemetery clean-up day, and it was stated that the Summerland Experimental station had given a quantity of shrubbery and trees for the purpose of beautifying the grounds. These had been planted the day they were received.

Another report given by Mrs. Reece, dealt with the garden competition, there being eleven gardens now entered. Messrs. R. P. Murray and Smith, of Penticton had made the rounds of these gardens during the past week. Appreciation was expressed in the thoughtfulness of Kelowna Women's Institute in writing for names of patients in this district in Kelowna hospital, so that they might visit them and thus help to make their stay in hospital less tedious.

ROTARY HEARS OF AFRICAN GOLD MINES

British Engineer Speaks of Large Gold Mining Operations in the Sister Dominion

Alister Smith, consulting mining engineer of London, Eng., and house-guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. MacDougall, told the Rotary club on Tuesday something about the South African gold mines.

Mr. Smith spoke briefly about the South African fruit farms, instancing one with six hundred acres of fruit. He stated that most growers there were subsidized by the government.

Gold is the backbone of the Union of South Africa. Mr. Smith stated and expressed his opinion that the mines there were the most modern in the world. Gold is mined at a depth in some cases of over eight thousand feet below the surface and to counteract the terrific heat experienced at that depth some mines have air conditioning plants which cost over half a million dollars. Chilled air is pumped into the lower levels of the mine.

The extent of the operations is shown by the fact that some mines handle one hundred and six thousand tons of ore each month from one shaft. While the mines operate at a low cost the gold content of the ore is also low. One mine employs as many as twenty-five thousand men.

Mr. Smith was introduced by Mr. MacDougall while the club's appreciation was expressed by Jim Brydon.

drowning and asphyxiation, Mrs. Dave Gellatly asked if the Institute could not have a demonstration of this at the next meeting. She reminded the meeting of the fatality which occurred at the lake last summer, in the face of which so few knew exactly what to do in the way of artificial respiration. While there is no reason to expect a recurrence of such a tragedy, it would be well to feel sufficient confidence, that one could do something, if necessary. Miss M. Gowen, V.O.N., offered to make the necessary arrangements for such a demonstration, which it is hoped will be featured at the June meeting.

Mrs. J. Ingram kindly lent her home for the afternoon meeting, which was held on Thursday instead of the usual last Tuesday of the month, to accommodate Dr. Willits. Mrs. A. C. Hoskins, Preventorium convener, was in charge of the meeting, and introduced the speaker. A number of useful articles was donated to the "showers" for the Preventorium, including a wool-filled patchwork quilt made and given by T.T.Q. members, and a huge Dutch doll, "Gretchen," presented by Mrs. H. O. Paynter. Groceries, eggs, canned goods, were also included, all of which will be sent over to the Preventorium this week.

The Royal Visit

A general exodus of the population marked the week-end in Westbank, no less than it did in other communities and towns throughout the Interior. Many journeyed to Vancouver, while others went to Kamloops or Revelstoke, all imbued with the desire to see Their Majesties, the royal train, and in the case of many of the boys and girls who went to Vancouver, thrilled with anticipation attendant on their first trip to a city of the size of Vancouver. In the latter case, the trip, from the moment of setting foot in the train, until their return, wearied, but filled with delight at the unaccustomed sights, has been packed with novel experiences of the wonders of the city, and of the crowds gathered there to pay homage to the King and Queen.

Some of the travellers journeyed by car, including Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Dobbin; Mrs. M. G. Hussey, with John and Ellen Hussey, the latter going to Chilliwack, here they stayed with relatives, at which point they hoped to catch a glimpse of Their Majesties.

The majority took the special train from West Summerland, some of these being: Mrs. L. D. Hitchner and her daughter Dora; Mrs. K. E. Stewart, Miss Grace Hewlett, Miss Jeanne Brown, Martin Stewart and Audrey Gellatly; Miss A. E. Collier and H. Mendel of the Westbank school staff; J. Basham, sr., accompanied by his younger son and daughter, Dorothy and David; Mrs. J. Ingram and two children, Miss Katherine Lightly; Mrs. Earl Lundin, Mrs. A. Currie, and others who made up their minds to go, at the very last minute.

Mrs. C. E. Bartley and Miss Bartley, who it was reported left a week ago, left instead, this week, and were accompanied by Mrs. W. H. Thacker, who served overseas as a matron, with the rank of colonel.

Many more, too numerous to mention, travelled by car or train, to Revelstoke and Kamloops, some of these being Mrs. W. Brown and John Brown; Mrs. D. A. Currie, Allan Gellatly, Misses Mae Norris and Betty and Hilary Carro; Mr. and Mrs. Dave Gellatly, Tex and Tony Fosberry and Stuart Gordon, who are cubs, went with the Kelowna troop.

May 24th Celebrated

May 24th was celebrated by Westbankers in various ways; some taking part in the Kelowna celebrations while others met at the park for the annual clean-up day. Many travelled by special bus to Penticton, where the day was spent with friends at that point, and some went hiking.

Miss Katie Bosch, of Bawlf, Alta., returned to take up her position again at Kila Kato, last week. Miss Bosch was here during the summer and fall months last year.

Sunday, May 28, was an especially important day for the troop. The Scoutmaster, A.S.M., and some 34 scouts journeyed to Revelstoke to greet the King and Queen. Both the local Guide Company and Wolf Cub Pack also made the trip.

The majority of the scouts went via rail and the remainder by automobile, leaving at 8:30 a.m. It was a great chance for the boys to view the magnificent scenery, and they certainly enjoyed seeing the snow-capped peaks and the many tumbling waterfalls.

Arriving at Revelstoke at about 1 p.m. the scouts and cubs met at the Parish hall. From there they marched to the railway station and took their places beside the railway platform. Unfortunately it rained during the one and one-half hour's wait for the Royal

Sport Gossip

By J. R. A.

The Gyros of Kelowna can hardly realize their good luck. On Tuesday, May 23, clouds blotted out the sunshine and some rain fell. On Thursday, May 25, the heaviest downpour of the year was precipitated from low-hanging clouds. Yet, on Wednesday, May 24, when the Gyros staged their annual Empire Day sports attractions, brilliant sunshine flooded the athletic grounds and not a cloud appeared on the horizon to mar the ceremonies. Somebody in the Gyro club lives right, and Prexy Jack Ladd thinks it must be him. There was a big crowd of adults and youngsters in the park for the big day, but the attendance did not reach the Gyros' expectations. But maybe they had their sights raised too high. It was a lot of work arranging all the details of the school display and May Queen crowning, but the precision with which the event was run off bespoke fine work on the part of the committees. The palm goes to Lloyd Day and Roy Sibbs especially for their guidance of the May Queen crowning and the school display. They worked long and hard and the results were splendid.

Those school teachers who had charge of the various parts of the display certainly caused a great impression with their excellent showing. Miss Joan List was signalled out especially for the plaudits of the crowd as her numbers were difficult and required lengthy training. The Russian Trepan dance was especially outstanding.

But speaking of teachers, your Sport Gossip was severely chastised last week following certain criticisms levelled at those teachers who, to my way of thinking, had not entered into the spirit of the schools track meet with the proper amount of enthusiasm. In fact, the entire teaching staff was ready to pounce upon my insignificant neck and tear me limb from limb. A deputation from the teaching staff waited upon this unheeding columnist to demand an explanation and also to give some explanations. According to the teachers, every member of the staff does a great amount of extra-curricular work, which is not called for in the ordinary course of school duties. Some take great interest in training pupils for the track meet and also in arranging details for the annual meet. Others bring along the entries for the musical festival and others work on special displays such as for the May 24 program. So, it would appear that every one of them has some extra duties even though they do not appear enthusiastic regarding the annual track meet. What the staff as a whole did object to most seriously in my criticisms of last week was that the entire staff was placed under the implication of shirking their duties, even though it was only a small group which had appeared to me indifferent and it was only towards that few that my remarks had been directed.

The teachers also misinterpreted my remarks regarding Alan France. They thought I was belittling the efforts of his coach, Al Cameron, when I said he could have turned in much better time if his timing of laps had been better arranged. I still believe that, but it is no discredit to his coach, whom I understand spent countless hours in assisting this promising young athlete with his training. You cannot expect perfection all at once, naturally enough, but the fact still remains

TENNIS TOURNAMENT TO GET UNDERWAY

Club Championship Will be Played by End of June

Another mixed doubles American tournament is to be operated at the Kelowna tennis club on Sunday afternoon, June 4. Invitations are being sent out to the other tennis clubs in the district to take part. Entries for the club tournament are to close on Sunday next and to encourage as many as possible to take part, no entry fees will be charged.

If sufficient entries are received, consolation events for those who do not survive the first rounds may be staged, states President Gardner. This would ensure everybody playing at least two matches.

The committee has arranged to schedule all matches in order to get the tournament finished before the end of June.

The films of the world's tennis stars in action are arriving in Kelowna this week and will be shown shortly.

as stated previously.

Chester Owen had a beef the other day because The Courier carried a story that no prizes had come to Kelowna from the Spalding golf cup competition at Salmon Arm. He proudly informed your Gossip that such was not the case, as he had brought home a number of golf balls, two of which he had handed over to Harry Todd, the golf club captain and generally Chester's chief press agent, he being too shy, as a general rule, to tell the whole story about himself. Well, Harry, that's one time you slipped up, but, of course, the reporter is the one who gets the blame if there are any omissions or corrections necessary. This time Chester was really amazed that Harry had slipped up on such a vital point.

Speaking of golf reminds me of Jimmy Burt, former Kelowna hotel impresario, who now makes his habitat in the windy city of Pontiac. Jimmy had played golf just three times before when he visited Kelowna with a bunch of Gyros for an inter-club meet. Despite that, he won his match and shot a 109, which is really quite remarkable for the fourth time out. But Jimmy certainly made his Pontiac teammates lives miserable ragging them because they didn't win. Don't tell anyone, but Jimmy's opponent was Bill Embrey, who really can play a much better game than that. In fact, he established some kind of a record by sinking his second shot for an eagle two on the long 18th hole, which is 388 yards in length. But that was before he met Jimmy.

Getting back to Harry Todd, there is a story going the rounds that he turned in a remarkable score of 70 in a medal round recently. Of course, it's generally difficult to follow the scores closely in medal play, but if Harry really shot a 70 then it is a new course record and should receive recognition. However, some of these golfers are just about the most modest fellows going and you have to do some real prying before they will admit a thing. Quite different from the ordinary fisherman, I have observed, but, of course, there are many exceptions to this rule, and there are some addicts who insist on going over the entire match and telling you what a marvellous score they could have obtained if they hadn't muffed that difficult lie on the sixth, and if they hadn't had the toughest luck on the seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, in fact, at every hole around the links. Oh, well, life is like that, and you just have to grin and bear it.

Open Season on Upland Birds Recommended by Sportsmen at First Quarterly Meeting of Club

Rod and Gun Club Aims at Membership of 400—Doubled Number Already With Start of Drive—Recommend Government Attempt to Rid Interior Lakes of Carp—Plans Laid for Convention

OPEN seasons on upland birds were recommended by the Kelowna Rod and Gun Club at its first quarterly meeting at the Orange hall on Friday evening, May 26, which was attended by about 60 members. Pheasants were sought as last year from October 15 to November 15 while the suggestion on quail will be from the same dates, despite a closed season move on the part of a few members. In the case of grouse, however, whereas only blues were available before, the local sportsmen wish the privilege of shooting either blue, willow or Franklin grouse from September 15 to October 15, with a daily bag limit of three of any kind and an aggregate of 15.

Despite an earlier resolution the meeting insisted on voting on the duck season from October 15 to December 31. This was one of the two resolutions submitted by the Kelowna club some months ago, although first choice was for a split season.

"Opening the duck season in September is absolutely stupid," declared H. C. S. Collett, in moving the motion for a start on October 15. President Jack Stirling reviewed the past few months' operations since the annual meeting and told of the work of the executive, which was split into committees.

Aim at 400

"I am pleased to say that we have more than twice as many members as last year and I would appeal to you, one and all, to try and obtain five new members each before the next quarterly meeting and put our membership in the four hundred class. In this way we would prove to the powers that be that a rod and gun club is a very necessary asset in any community."

"We are working this year with the whole-hearted cooperation of the farmers as far as pheasants doing damage at seeding time is concerned and will, I hope, be able to report more fully on this matter at the next quarterly meeting."

The club adopted almost entirely the constitution as drafted by a committee headed by Alderman J. H. Horn, as well as a special resolution which allowed representatives from the districts surrounding Kelowna on the executive with equal power of those elected at the annual meeting.

President Stirling asked the meeting's recommendation on keeping up Okanagan lake open the year round and after H. C. S. Collett declared the closed season in the winter does not make a bit of difference it was decided to suggest that there be no closed season on the lake.

"We could make Okanagan lake the finest fishing ground in North America but instead we fool around with potatoes in the mountains," was Mr. Collett's declaration which drew a laugh from the audience.

Following on the same idea of improving Okanagan lake, President Stirling's suggestion that the government be requested to take steps to eradicate carp in interior lakes met with instantaneous approval. Carp not only destroy the trout but are one of the reasons why duck shooting is not as plentiful as it should be, declared the president.

Convention Delegates

Delegates to the interior and provincial conventions to be held in Kelowna on Thursday and Friday, June 8 and 9, will be President Jack Stirling and Capt. J. H. Horn. Dinners and luncheons are being arranged under the chairmanship of Capt. Horn and local members may attend if they so desire and give sufficient notice so that accommodation may be arranged.

A strong move to obtain a better working junior club was made by President Stirling, while Mr. Acland of Okanagan Mission offered to camp groups of boys at Beaver lake for a week and teach them fishing.

A copy of the B.C. association proposed constitution was read to the assembly but the suggestion that the provincial body handle resolutions from the various member clubs did not meet with approval while the suggested 10 per cent membership fee was also frowned upon.

Change Fire Permits

Another suggestion by the president was given approval, this being to change the issuance of blanket permits for fires in the hills to a system of permit issuance which would indicate the area and period during which time the fire would be lit. Some members considered this would work a hardship on many who would not be in direct access to the source of the permits, but the protection of the forests was deemed so important to the remainder of the meeting that the motion was passed.

Mr. Acland suggested that the department should place more firetrucks on Jakabshoe throughout the hills. For his splendid work in rescuing the islands on Beaver lake, Josh Woods received a vote of thanks which was heartily applauded by all present. Work parties to Beaver and Caribou lakes will be organized shortly.

As this was the first meeting at which the club has operated since being incorporated under the Societies Act, an election of officers was necessary, with the same men as were elected at the annual meeting being returned to office.

JUNIOR CRICKET TEAM DRAWS AT VANCOUVER

Win One Game and Lose Second Against St. George's School in Week-end Games—See Their Majesties

Kelowna junior cricketers returned from Vancouver on Tuesday after playing two matches with St. George's school, where they were guests for the week-end. They were royally entertained by the school and came out even in the two games. On Monday they viewed the King and Queen at the Memorial Park, in space specially reserved for the school.

On Saturday, they won by a large margin, due to a 43 by Jack Hammond, which included a 6, and 20 by Will Stiehl and 13 by Jack Appleton, as well as the excellent bowling by Stiehl, who captained the side.

The Kelowna side compiled 119 runs but St. George's could not handle the bowling of Stiehl, who took eight wickets for eleven runs and the school was all out for 31. The school went in again but 31 was again all it could muster. Gervers, Kennedy and Stiehl dividing the bowling honors.

On Sunday, the tables were reversed. St. George's having with them T. Parker-Jervis and a strong side of boys. Kelowna went in first and made another 31. Deans being top scorer with 9, and despite the steady bowling and first-rate fielding, St. George's side had 109 before they were all out, of which Geoffrey Robinson, one of the outstanding Vancouver juniors, scored 65 not out.

Kelowna went in again and made 47. The fielding of the Kelowna side was excellent on both games and the bowling of Stiehl, Gervers and Kennedy and the batting of Hammond, Deans, Stiehl and Appleton against bowling of a high standard were outstanding features of the matches.

Kelowna juniors are playing Vernon Preparatory School on Saturday at Vernon and later in the season will play Vernon and Penticton junior teams.

D. McMillan and G. N. Kennedy led at 200 yards with 32 each, while G. W. Hammond and Mrs. Harnelling each put on 31 and W. E. Harnelling made 30. Kennedy led again at 500 yards with a 34 dropping to an inner on his sixth shot on score. Harnelling registered 33, A. Garner 32 and McMillan 31. S. Defeat Winfield 12-5 While Two Rutland Teams Battle to 2-All Draw

Two games were played in the Central Okanagan League (twilight) on Monday. After a late start due to the failure of the one remaining Kelowna entry in the league to get a team lined up until after 6:45 p.m. the Winfield team lost to the Transfers 12 to 5. The visiting team was on the grounds early, and when the game finally got going, got away to a 5-1 lead in the early innings. In the semi-darkness of the final inning they blew up and the Transfers romped home to a victory. Batteries for the game were: Winfield: Williamson and McCarthy; Transfers: Kieliski and Crawford.

The other game was at Rutland, where the two Rutland teams engaged in civil war. The game resulted in a tie, 2 all. The Maroons got away to a good lead in the first inning, getting both their runs then. The Adanacs got a run in their half of the inning, but did not score again until the fifth, when the tying run came in. The Ads had three on bases in that inning, but Henry Wostradowski hit into a double play. The game was called at the end of the 6th, on account of darkness.

Batteries for the game were: Adanacs: H. Wostradowski and Holisky; Maroons: Alexander and Reser.

The league standing is now:

	W	L	D	Pts.
Kelowna Transfers	2	0	0	4
Winfield	1	1	0	2
Oyama	1	1	0	2
Rutland Adanacs	0	1	1	1
Rutland Maroons	0	1	1	1

In the Central league tied games are not replayed unless they affect the final standing of the teams.

The next games are: Thursday evening, June 1st, Adanacs at Winfield; and Oyama at Transfers; and on Monday, June 5th, Winfield at Maroons and Adanacs at Oyama.

Saturday last, when the total received amounted to forty-two. It is expected that a few belated entries, at a penalty of 20 per cent higher fees, will come in before the shoot begins, to raise the number to about fifty. Entries from Kelowna number seven; Vernon, five; Summerland-Penticton, seven; Kamloops, ten; Armstrong, six; Falkland, three; Vancouver, four.

DR. HANNAH WINS INTERIOR GOLF

Triumphs for Second Time Over Kamloops Course Last Week

Dr. Hannah, star Vernon golfer, annexed the Interior golf championship at Kamloops last season for the second year running and added further laurels to his many triumphs of this season throughout the Interior. There were 34 entries in the event on the Kamloops course, which was in splendid shape, with fast greens. The Alex Seon Memorial Bowl, which was in competition for the first time at Kamloops last week, was won by Lawrence Harling, of Kamloops for the best qualifying score.

H. K. Todd, of Kelowna, qualified but was knocked out in the first round by the ultimate champion, Dr. Hannah.

At Last—A Complete Beer!

Nature Joins Hands With Science—Vitamins B and C Restored

Today everyone recognizes the value of Vitamins—and for years brewing science has striven to restore the original Malt Brewer's Yeast Vitamins (B and C) to beer without sacrificing its sharply filtered clearness and sparkle. Now by an exclusive process we restore these essential Vitamins to our Vancouver Capilano's beer—Vitamins which belong to beer but which are lost in modern beer filtration. As a result we have a Complete Beer. Enjoy the smooth, full body and hearty flavor of the fine old beers of the past in a beer of Today! ... Vancouver Capilano's Vitamin Conditioned Lager ... KELOWNA SEA CADET CORPS

"Grenville" Company 1358
"Keep Watch"

A steady and prolonged downpour failed to dampen the enthusiasm of eighteen Sea Cadets who travelled to Revelstoke last Sunday. The Cadets were stationed at the front of the crowd and as a result had a good view of the King and Queen during their brief stop. In fact, the Queen acknowledged the salute of Chief Warrant Officer Stone at their Majesties passed by within a few yards of the Cadets.

After parade last Tuesday twelve shining seaman's knives were presented to the dozen boys who had made the most progress in the Corps since the beginning of 1939.

Orders for parade
There will be a full uniform parade at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, June 2. The Ship's Company will also parade on Tuesday, June 6, at 7:30 p.m. All parades will take place in the Armory and are compulsory.

LOCATE SUGAR BEET FACTORY AT VERNON

M. R. Chaplin of Kelowna Informs Vernon Council of His Plans

That the proposed sugar beet factory for the Okanagan will be located in or near Vernon is the intention of the promoters of this venture, according to a letter read at the Vernon city council meeting Monday night.

For some weeks Vernon city has been trying to secure information. A communication sent to a firm of lawyers, Miller and Cuthbert at Vancouver, was referred to M. R. Chaplin of Kelowna who in turn wrote the council. Mr. Chaplin's letter is reproduced below exactly as received.

"As you know we wrote you some time ago regarding a site for a sugar factory as it was intended to locate in or near Vernon.
"That is still our intention and we hold the land necessary for the factory which must be around seventy five acres.
"We have received no support in fact have had a great deal of opposition from your local paper and others in Vernon. Our greater support in the Vernon area is larger than in any other district.

"The number employed in the factory would be around three hundred to three hundred and fifty in the busy season of around four months and around a hundred the rest of the year.
"My sponsors wish to stay in the back ground.
"The opposition from Vernon has resulted in the withdrawal of a large part of our Canadian capital however, this is being taken care of by outside capital.
"Three hundred and fifty seven plots of beets are doing very well through the valley.
"Trusting this information helps some."

PLANS MAY CRYSTALLIZE THIS WEEK

A. K. Loyd, Chairman of Board of Governors of Tree Fruits Tells Courier Plan Advancing

SHIPPERS DISCUSSING CONTRACT

Week May See Setup Completed and Organization Working

"While there is nothing very definite I can tell you I can certainly say that things are progressing satisfactorily and there is every hope that there will be a definite announcement of considerable importance early next week," A. K. Loyd, chairman of the board of governors of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., told The Courier late on Wednesday when queried about the progress of central selling plan.

"As you know," Mr. Loyd continued, "it has been no easy task. The governors met for the greater part of a week to draw upon general scheme and since then the executive of the Board of Governors, composed of A. Millar of Oliver, A. T. Howe, of Coldstream and myself, have carried on. A tentative contract with the shippers was drawn up and this entailed considerable work, to say nothing of the time. It was then redrafted and is now in more or less final shape.

"The majority of the shippers have already been interviewed and the acceptance of the contract has been generally satisfactory. The three large groups, the Associated, Sales Service and United Distributors, are having meetings this week to discuss the contract and the board of governors of Tree Fruits will meet on Saturday. I feel that following that meeting a definite statement can be issued covering the terms of the contract and reception by the large shipping groups.

"It is also possible that following that meeting we may be able to give a statement in detail as to the Sales set up of the organization.
"While the progress of the negotiations may have seemed to be very slow to the general public, I can assure you that no time has been lost and that every effort has been made to speed up the negotiations but plans of this type cannot be put into operation overnight and, despite the delay caused by the numerous holidays and the Royal visit, the present negotiations have moved along quite satisfactorily.

"Should they continue to progress as favourably as I have reason to hope, for the remainder of this week, the new organization may well be in operation before another week has passed."

4 HASKINS REMAINS

French polled 102; Haskins 90; and Wilkinson 87.

The south gave Haskins a good majority with 593 as against 507 for French, 496 for Wilkinson, 396 for Barrat and 310 for Hembling.

The Main Line, Kamloops, Salmon Arm and Sorrento gave the three members of the old board a substantial lead with Barrat leading with 105 and Haskins with 92 and Hembling with 80 far outdistancing French with 70 and Wilkinson with 27.

If the Mainline was predominantly for the three board members the Kootenays were overwhelmingly so as Haskins polled 194, Barrat 197 and Hembling 155 while the best French and Wilkinson could do was 59 and 40 respectively.

One of the surprises of the election was the wonderful showing made by Thomas Wilkinson who entered the field unknown outside the Kelowna district where he is known more as a vegetable man than a fruit man. The result of the vote speaks well for his reputation that he could poll such a surprisingly large vote while so little known. He ran well in all districts excepting the extreme outskirts of the voting district.

An interesting comparison is made if the Okanagan votes are separated from those of the outside districts. The Kootenays and the Mainline votes place Barrat in the lead with 304 Haskins in second place with 280 and Hembling placing third with 235 while French with 129 and Wilkinson with 67 trailed badly.

Deducting the Mainline and Kootenay votes from the totals reveals the fact that had the Okanagan been voting alone it would have elected Haskins chairman with 940. French would have placed second with 820 and Wilkinson would have taken the third place on the board with 805.

The ballots were counted on Wednesday by R. G. Rutherford & Co. chartered accountants.

The new board will operate on a per diem basis set at $10.00 per day plus expenses by the delegates which amounted to about three weeks ago.

Percy, who not long ago flew Frobiisher, sister ship of Falcon, from England to Brussels in 53 minutes, equalling the Belgian record.

Mayor Urges Home Builders to Take Advantage of Arrangement Made Between City and Federal Gov't.

Any Person Starting Construction of House Costing Less Than Four Thousand May Have Federal Government Pay Large Portion of First Three Years' Taxes—No Strings Attached—"It's a Gift," Says Mayor

"Every person who has built a house in this city during the past year, or is building at present, as well as those who start construction before the end of 1940, should apply to the city to arrange to have their taxes for the first three years paid by the federal government under Part III of the National Housing Act," His Worship Mayor O. L. Jones told The Courier on Wednesday.

"The city has entered into an arrangement with the federal government and any house costing not more than $4,000 and built between June 1st, 1938 and December 31st, 1940, may have the entire first years' taxes, half the second and a quarter of the third year's taxes, paid by the federal government," His Worship continued.

"Are there any restrictions as to the lot? Isn't there something about the city having to agree to sell certain lots for $50.00?" The Courier asked.

"Yes the city has agreed as part of the scheme to set aside a block of lots to be sold for $50.00 but this does not prevent any person building in any section of the city and on any price lot from applying and obtaining this tax concession," His Worship replied. "There have been a number of houses built here during the past year and if owners made application to the city office they could obtain this very generous tax arrangement."

"The arrangement covers a three year period?"

"Officially, yes, but actually, longer. You see, the first year you build a house you do not pay taxes as the house is not on the assessment roll until the following January. Thus if a person built a house in June, 1939, it would not be on the tax roll until 1940 and the national housing act arrangement would take care of the taxes for 1940, 1941 and 1942. The latter two years in reducing amounts as I have pointed out."

"Suppose a person built a $4,000 house, how much would this arrangement save him?" The Courier asked.

"Kelowna's tax rate is based on the full value of the lot and one third of the value of the improvements and the tax rate is forty-three mills. All the first year's taxes on a four thousand dollar property with half the second year's and a quarter of the third year's would come to well over a hundred dollars. And the beauty of it is there are no strings attached and no red tape. The owner, has simply to go to the city office and fill out a simple application form. I cannot imagine any owner not taking advantage of it. It is a gift."

The city has entered into an arrangement with the federal government whereby under the National housing act the government pays the increase in taxes occasioned by the cost of construction of a new house on a lot owned by the owner of the house. The arrangement includes the general real estate and school taxes but not special taxes such as the library assessment.

The cost of construction of a house means the actual expenditure for the building, the cost of land, architectural and legal expenses and any other expenses necessary to complete the house. A house is defined as a single, complete, self-contained dwelling suitable for occupation by one family and not attached to or forming part of any other house. It would not apply to a house attached to or forming part of a store or other commercial building. Houses built for sale or rent are not covered by the provisions of the arrangement, nor will payment of taxes be made by the government on a house which has subsequently changed ownership other than through the death of the owner.

Persons desiring to take advantage of the arrangement should apply to George Dunn, city clerk at the city offices from whom they may obtain the necessary form to fill in.

ONLY SMALL GROUP OF NAZI GERMANS IN OSOYOOS AREA

Canadian Residents of Southern Town Little Concerned Over Labor Front Agitators

Canadian residents of Osoyoos appear little concerned over the so-called pro-Nazi organization in their district. They are keeping a check on their activities.

The general feeling among Osoyoos Canadians is that the Labor Front is better left alone so long as it abides by the laws of this country. So far there have been no violent outbreaks or disturbances of any kind.

There are in the district a small group of what may be called pro-Nazi agitators and under their direction the Labor Front was formed and various meetings have been held. These meetings have been attended by the few Nazi sympathizers in the community and by a few others of German blood who do not approve of Hitlerism but attended the meetings out of curiosity or because of urgency of the agitators on their friends.

Bundles of pro-Nazi literature have been distributed and the gospel of Hitlerism has been preached by the small group of agitators, one of whom recently left to return to Germany.

Most of the Osoyoos Germans are naturalized Canadians of Canadian birth. Many of them are now making application for their naturalization papers, presumably, it is believed, to free themselves of any power the German authorities may still wield over them.

For Their Majesties

Royal Anne Hotel Cherry
Olives Eaten by King and Queen at Banff

Royal Anne cherry olives, as prepared by the chef at the Royal Anne hotel, were eaten by King George and Queen Elizabeth at the Banff Springs Hotel and at Chalet Lake Louise last week-end when Their Majesties visited the Canadian Pacific resorts.

The Royal Anne hotel chef has been preparing these olives from a secret recipe for the past dozen years and they have become famous with the travelling public as well as the local citizens who patronize the hotel.

Recently, the Canadian Pacific Railway officials, asked the Royal Anne to supply a quantity of these specially-prepared cherry olives for their two mountain resorts and the request was acceded to. It is possible that the Royal Anne may be asked to supply the C.P.R. steadily with these delicacies and if so a steady by-products industry may develop which would reach large proportions in a few years.

ORIGINATOR OF VALLEY APPLE INDUSTRIES DIES

Harry Valentine Chaplin Brought
First Apple Trees to Okanagan for Aberdeen Estate

Another of Kelowna's old timers went to his last rest on Tuesday morning when Mr. Harry Valentine Chaplin passed away at the Kelowna Hospital after a long illness. Deceased had been in the Okanagan close on to half a century. He was born at Bowmanville, Ontario, in 1870, and went to New Westminster in 1891, moving to Kelowna two years later.

Mr. Chaplin was a nurseryman and soon saw the opportunities of fruit growing in the Okanagan. He shipped into the district the first carload of apple trees and these were the trees that first started fruit growing on the Aberdeen estate. A few years later he was able to ship the first product of the trees to the prairie where he went and introduced the first Okanagan apples to the prairie people. He was keenly interested in agriculture and took the first fruit exhibit to New Westminster and for years judged at the various fairs held throughout the district.

Forty-one years ago he married the daughter of the late H. W. Raymer, who was the first mayor of Kelowna and there are four sons and one daughter in the family. Kim Chaplin of Trail, Mrs. Marjorie McNaughton, Maurice, Philip and Harry Chaplin all of Kelowna and his widow survive to mourn his passing.

The late Mr. Chaplin had always been keenly interested in the development of the Okanagan, and he, together with the late F. R. E. DeHart had much to do with the early settlement of fruit growers in this district.

It is interesting to note that the first census taken of the Similkameen was carried out by the late Mr. Chaplin who covered the whole district on horseback taking an accurate count of the people.

Other members of the family are two brothers, Fred of Kelowna, and William of Hamilton, Ont. and a sister, Mrs. May Rose of Wallisburg, Ont.

The funeral will take place from Day's Funeral Parlors on Thursday afternoon at 3:30 Rev. W. W. McPherson officiating.

MOLLY CLERKE WAS CONTEST WINNER

Miss Molly Clarke, sponsored by the Vernon Kiwanis Club, was the winner of the Mahogany Sun Tan Contest that concluded there last Friday, and as a result enjoyed a free trip to Vancouver at the time of the visit of Their Majesties.

Her victory was announced from the stage of the Vernon Capitol Theatre on Friday evening by Everett Clarke, president of the board of trade, who stated the third contest to have been won by Miss Molly Clarke, Kiwanis, 3,010-475 votes, Miss "MIT" Davison, Canadian Legion, 3,477,015, Miss Nancy Wheeler of Lumbly Rotary Club 3,323,390, Miss Muriel McKewen, Scottish Daughters' League 1,953,525, Miss Pat King, Boy Scouts Association, 877,100, and Miss Norma Phylisyon, Okanagan Landing Aquatic Association 905,300.

There was thus a total of 13,004,023 votes during the four weeks of the contest, and this, remarked Mrs. Clarke, at a cent a vote represented cash transactions of $130,040 for the month's period.

Many Okanaganians believe there is little prospect of the pro-Nazi influence developing into serious proportions in their district.

SENTENCES TOTAL OVER FOUR YEARS

George Miller Sentenced on Charge of Forgery at Keremeos

Sentences totalling more than four years face George Ernest Miller, alias George Maunier, following his trial at Keremeos on a charge of forgery. Acquitted had previously been sentenced in Penticton for several other counts.

The man is alleged to have taken a cheque, forged on a coast man, for $500 to a bank in Keremeos. With this cheque, which he deposited at the bank, he opened an account at this branch. He then proceeded into Penticton, where he issued a cheque on the account at Keremeos, using the money as down-payment on a car.

He then commenced driving the car out of Penticton, it being alleged he was bound for U.S.A. points at the time. However, before he had left the municipality, he became involved in an accident. Investigation of this led to discovery of the fraudulent scheme and to obtaining possession of the machine and some money.

For the Penticton charges, under made regarding the name of the man which he faced Stipendiary Magistrate aiding Supreme Court Judge or of the W. R. Dewdney, the man received sentence.

ences totalling 21 months in Oakalla. Appearing in the Similkameen for the forgery charge, he was sentenced to 30 months in the penitentiary. The man will first serve the sentence in the penitentiary and then be taken to Oakalla prison farm to serve the balance of the sentences there.

ASSIZES AT VERNON OPEN ON JUNE 12

The Spring Assizes, which commence in the Vernon Court House on Monday afternoon, June 12, promise to be brought to a fairly speedy conclusion. Though there is ample time for litigation of other cases with the local registry, only three criminal charges are scheduled to be heard here as yet.

One case is a manslaughter charge against a Woodbank Indian, William McLaughlin, the second a theft charge from the Princeton area and the last a statutory offence.

So far only two divorces are slated to be heard in Supreme Court, but others may come in in the next ten days.

So far no announcement has been made regarding the name of the man which he faced Stipendiary Magistrate aiding Supreme Court Judge or of the W. R. Dewdney, the man received sentence.

PREPARE FOR BIG MILITARY CAMP

Vernon Expects $75,000 to be Spent in That City

Arrangements for holding the big military camp on Mission Hill at Vernon are proceeding satisfactorily. Mayor Harry Bowman announced at the City Council meeting Monday evening.

An adjustment was made during the week and regarding land necessary to hold the camp following an interchange of telegrams between himself and Brigadier Stewart officer commanding military district No. 11. May.

At least $75,000 would be spent in Vernon as a result of the camp, he said and declared himself in favor of further efforts if necessary.

Officers of the Dominion and Kelowna have been told that they would require hot shower baths and for this purpose the city steam roller may be provided. Alderman David Howie in agreeing to make necessary arrangements for the roller, remarked: "That's the first soldier I ever knew who wanted hot showers though."

The Okanagan and particularly with the Osoyoos district.
Mrs. Kruger passed away at the British Hospital on Thursday, May 23. She had been a patient there for some time. Impressive last rites for the pioneer were held at Oliver, in the presence of a large number of the Okanagan and particularly with the Osoyoos district.

Their Majesties at Revelstoke

Walking down the Revelstoke station platform just prior to the departure of the Royal train, Their Majesties chatted genially with friends. Rt. Rev. W. R. Adams, Bishop of Kootenay, is seen chatting with the Queen. Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada is just behind Bishop Adams while Hon. Ian Mackenzie, minister of national defence, is just behind the King.

Four Kelowna School Students Spend Happy Days in Vancouver

Guests of Vancouver School Board to See Their Majesties—E. Ryan Speaks to Junior Board of Trade

Four happy, young students of the Kelowna junior and senior high schools returned to Kelowna on Tuesday's C.P.R. passenger train tired but happy after experiencing the most thrilling ten days of their young lives. They were the ambassadors of goodwill from Kelowna to Vancouver, where they were guests of the Vancouver School Board from Sunday, May 21 to Monday, May 29, when they viewed the King and Queen.

These four young people were Eugene Ryan and Rosamund Russell from the Kelowna senior high and Patsy Weddell and Jack Noonan from the junior high.

On Saturday, May 20, they boarded the C.P.R. train for Vancouver on the biggest adventure of their lives. On Sunday they were greeted by representatives of the Vancouver School Board and were billeted at various homes.

Big Youth Rally

Sunday saw their first official function, when they attended the huge youth rally at Hastings Park Forum, where nearly 7,000 students were present. On Monday they went back to school, Eugene being sent to Magee high, Rosamund to King Edward high and Patsy and Jack to Pt. Grey junior high. They attended school on Monday, Thursday and Friday, with the exception of Eugene, who attended the Vancouver Junior Board of Trade luncheon on Thursday.

Tuesday saw the four present at the big inter-high track meet and Eugene proudly states that the Okanagan athletes could have beaten many of the Vancouver school stars. Alan France could have won in both half mile events, junior and senior, he states.

On Wednesday, May 24, the Empire Day holiday, they were driven around Vancouver, which was busily engaged in decorating for the visit of Their Majesties. On Saturday they were left to their own devices and Sunday was taken up with drives around the city.

Eugene played with the Magee high cricket team against King Ed Friday and was second high in batting, but Magee did not succeed in defeating King Ed, despite the addition of Ryan.

Saw King and Queen

Monday was a great day for these four young people as they were given ample opportunity to see the King and Queen. They are as enthusiastic as all the thousands of other Interior people who did not have an opportunity to go to the coast but viewed Their Majesties along the main line from Revelstoke to Kamloops.

Eugene saw Their Majesties three times, once between Elm and Larch streets, again at the corner of Hastings and Granville where he was in the front line of the crowd, and again when they were boarding the boat for Victoria.

"Did the Queen catch sight of that red hair of yours," asked The Courier reporter, glancing at Eugene's flaming thatch.

"Yes, I am sure she looked right at me," he replied instantly.

There were nearly 200 school children from all parts of the hinterland guests of the Vancouver School Board but none obtained the opportunity which Eugene Ryan did of speaking before a gathering. Through efforts of the Kelowna junior board, Eugene spoke to the Vancouver Junior Board of Trade at last Thursday's luncheon gathering.

Vancouver Report

The Vancouver News-Herald contains a fine report of Ryan's talk, and the following is the account which appeared in that morning paper:

Vancouver housewives and the fruit consumers they represent are not playing the game with the Okanagan, according to Eugene Ryan, Kelowna High School grade twelve student, who made this charge in an address at the Junior Board of Trade luncheon Thursday.

The ugly truth, as Mr. Ryan sees it, is revealed in the startling figures showing Vancouver's consumption of Okanagan apples during "Apple Week" last year was less than half the quantity of Japanese oranges.

In that week, he said, Greater Vancouver munched 50,000 boxes of Okanagan apples, 104,000 boxes of Japanese oranges, 50,000 boxes of oranges from other sources.

Further than that total Okanagan apple consumption in Vancouver during 1938 was only 271,000 boxes. The average aggregate was not quoted by Mr. Ryan.

This was the secret to the one-sided trade balance between the Okanagan and Vancouver, said Mr. Ryan.

Trade with the Okanagan produced $15,000,000 revenue for Vancouver, while the Okanagan derived only $400,000 revenue in return, the young economist claimed.

KELOWNA MAN HAS PRIVATE ROYAL CHAT

Don Ellis Meets Queen at Mount Siding—Pleasing Incidents of Royal Visit

Don Ellis, formerly of Kelowna and now game warden at Prince Rupert, is reported an unusual and interesting chat with the Queen on Sunday.

Mr. Ellis was stationed about the main line of the C.P.R. at a spot where it was not expected the train would stop a siding in the heart of the mountains.

The Queen got off the train and in the morning around bumped into Mr. Ellis. She turned to apologize and engaged him in conversation for some minutes.

A child was standing nearby and the Queen asked Mr. Ellis to hold the child up so that she might kiss her.

Another interesting side light on the royal visit gives the youngster's name. David Leckie of Kelowna was standing with the Kelowna scouts as the Queen passed at Revelstoke. The Queen smiled directly at him and he described the moment this "God" my face turned black red.

Mr. J. S. Henderson was holding up one of the children of Dr. and Mrs. A. S. Underhill at Revelstoke that the child might see the Queen. "Where is she?" "Where is she?" the child cried.

The Queen heard and smiled at the child and waved until she was sure the youngster had seen her.

POST OFFICE CLOCK WILL BE LIGHTED AGAIN

Time Switch to be Installed at Post Office to Regulate Hours for Lighting and Stopping

After months in darkness, the Kelowna Post Office clock will be illuminated again tonight, when the official word received here on Wednesday following the visit of J. B. Shaw, of the Dominion architects office in Victoria. It is understood that the Dominion government will install a time switch device which will regulate the lighting of the clock as it grows dusk each evening and turn off the light in the early morning.

This clock was lighted when first installed but then the light was turned off the clock being understood that the Dominion department of public works did not deem the expense of $3 per month for this lighting to be advisable.

The subject was broached at the Kelowna Junior Board of Trade monthly meeting and letters were written to the Dominion department and to Hon. G. R. Stirling. The latter replied that he was investigating the situation with the result an outlined above. The Courier commented editorially on the subject some months ago, stressing the need for illumination of the timepiece.

The way of the transgressor may be hard, but it is never lonely.

Courier Pictures

Engravings In This Issue Only Possible By Special Plant Maintained

The five pictures of the Royal couple's visit to Revelstoke contained in this issue of The Courier were the only pictures taken by a photographer on the station platform, when the beautiful blue and silver Royal train pulled into the important mountain centre on Sunday afternoon. A press photographer who had been engaged by The Courier took a dozen photographs of Their Majesties and these arrived in printed form on Tuesday afternoon in The Courier office. The Courier is one of only half a dozen weekly newspapers in Canada which can boast an engraving plant of its own and thus it was only because of this equipment being available here that the readers of The Courier may today view at first-hand pictures of their beloved King and Queen as they appeared at Revelstoke on Sunday. Other papers had to obtain pictures and send them to Vancouver for reproduction into cuts for newspaper use, and because of the distances involved they could not reach their destination in time to catch any publications on Thursday morning.

Queen Byrdie and Lady of the Lake Dot Anderson Give Fine Addresses at Crowning Ceremony

On May 24, the simple speeches of May Queen Byrdie Greening and Lady of the Lake Dot Anderson, in the lovely crowning ceremonies which were a feature of the Gyro sports day, brought admiring comments from all sides. Mrs. J. L. Logie, Mrs. Chas. Gaudes and Miss Nancy Gale collaborated in designing these speeches for the girls.

Just before crowning Queen Byrdie, Lady of the Lake Dot Anderson spoke as follows:

PREVENTORIUM OPENING

Kelowna, B.C., May 30, 1939

Editor, Kelowna Courier

Dear Sir: The Preventorium premises situated in Glenora are being re-opened on 2nd June when a number of children will be taken in for treatment. Miss Rodd, the new Matron, will be in charge and the directors hope that many under-conditioned youngsters will benefit greatly by the care given them in the Preventorium this season.

The public is asked to take a real interest in this good work and respectfully solicit contributions in money which will be gratefully received by Miss Doris Leathley, the Secretary-Treasurer, and in kind, which may be left at D. K. Gordon Ltd., or at the Preventorium.

It might also be mentioned here that it is the intention to erect a rustic shelter for the children as a small memorial to the Preventorium's very kind friend, the late Dr. G. A. Ootmar. Thanking the public exceedingly for past kind assistance.

Yours very sincerely,

Directors of the Preventorium.

R.R. 3, Kelowna, May 30, 1939.

To the Editor,

The Kelowna Courier.

Dear Sir:

After perusing "True Democrats" letter in The Courier of May 25, the idea germinates in one's mind that the writer is neither true nor democratic. When one makes such a venomous attack upon either an individual or group of individuals, surely one should have the courage and decency not to hide one's identity with a pseudonym.

The whole tone of the letter savors of the underground methods which (we are given to understand) are used by the notorious Gestapo. Compare the manner in which the Nazi agents proceeded in Austria and Czechoslovakia, pretending first acquiescence and friendliness to the existing authorities and then very gradually and insidiously stirring up suspicion and distrust. Every man suspecting, and being suspected by his neighbor.

Is it not forgivable if one forms the idea, after reading "True Democrats" effusion that perhaps he himself has done the very thing of which he accuses another, "fabricated the recent anonymous letter." He certainly was able to furnish a very subtle and ingenious explanation as to its origin. To the unsuspicious, the original letter was so crude that one was vaguely amused and did not worry over much, deeming it merely the affair of the constituted authorities. But "True Democrat" was able to use it to foist this second effusion upon us.

What a different effect is produced by the other three letters which appeared on the same subject. They create a feeling of friendliness and brotherhood toward our fellow Canadians, while "True Democrat" accuses the very sentiments he pretends to wish to avoid.

Thank you for valuable space.

FELICIA SNOWSEI

"HUMAN RACE"

Okanagan Mission, May 29, 1939

To the Editor,

The Kelowna Courier.

Dear Sir:

In your issue of May 25th a letter as headed "Communist propaganda" and signed "True Democrat" Strange as it may appear to the writer of this letter I was also behind the police of this district in routing the agents of Fascism. I complimented Sgt. MacDonald and his staff on their actions and will give my assistance I can to the police in this matter. But I am troubling the writer on his specie of "human race."

If I were to say that it is thought by many that "True Democrat" himself wrote this garbled letter to the police I do not think this, but I do say his type of mind beguets this very thing. People whose minds and emotions are misty, make ready material for the Fascists.

Capitalist propaganda line of course blamed the Communists for every ailment under the sun. "Unhated" was blamed for the Reichstag fire but the world knows today, he caused that conflagration. Will true democratic explain why England and France are at this moment completing a military alliance with these human rats I say this knowing that "True Democrat" thinks that communism comes from Moscow. My friend, you have much to learn. You claim it is filtering into everywhere. Is it just dumb people that follow or fall for Socialism or Communism, or are you a trifle dumb? Has it occurred to you that we live in an era where all art and culture are experiencing transvaluation, all forms of creative expression are being infused with a new content? Understandably, those who resist change in the economic and political realm do their worst in the sphere of culture as well. Further, the profoundest argument for democracy is faith in man, in his worth, in his intellect and immortal soul. This is true metaphysical equality, from the ethical angle, democracy is justified as a political realization of love and respect for one's fellowman.

I am not going to the length of explaining the difference between capitalist or bourgeois democracy as versus soviet democracy. The statesmen of the democratic countries, as I stated before, are being forced together to save themselves from Fascism which my friend denounces. He also damns the communists. Then what specie of skunk are you? I do not wish to give offense, but your reasoning is faulty and judgment very poor. You have a right to follow what creed you wish. When did any communist interfere with you? Be precise and tell us. How many communists do you actually know Benvoulin was well represented at the Kelowna athletic park on Empire Day, a large number going in to enjoy the sports program sponsored by the Gyros. Mission Creek and Benvoulin schools both put on a May pole dance, while some of the high school students took part in the folk dancing, also the gym display.

BENVOLIN

Quite a number of people from this district journeyed north on Sunday, May 28th, some going to Kamloops while others went to Revelstoke to meet the Royal train bearing Their Majesties. There was a heavy fall of rain in the latter city which, however, cleared away before the train arrived so that all were able to obtain a good view of our King and Queen.

Mr. and Mrs. James Heap of Kere-meos, who are enjoying a holiday, were visitors at the home of Mrs. Fisher last Saturday, May 27th.

Miss Margaret Smith of the nursing staff of St. Paul's hospital, Vancouver, is home on holiday.

Mr. Lorrainie, who has been working at Crawford's mill, suffered a slight stroke last Saturday and was taken to Kelowna hospital.

Next Sunday, June 4, a report of the conference meeting will be given in the Rutland church by Mrs. Quigley of Rutland who, as delegate, represented this pastoral charge.

Oyster-catcher birds actually do force open oyster shells with their bills.

THEIR MAJESTIES ARRIVE AT REVELSTOKE

The rain was stopping just as Their Majesties arrived at Revelstoke. The Queen was handed an umbrella by an equey as she emerged from the train. The King wore a gabardine and a felt hat, doffing the latter a few minutes after the arrival as the Queen gave up her umbrella. Bishop Adams is seen at the extreme left with Mayor Hardman of Revelstoke standing next in the light grey suit. The Queen is seen smiling under her umbrella while the King is taking a hasty glance at the mountains. The tall man in the immediate foreground with his back to the camera and the rain on his shoulders is Hon. Ian MacKenzie, minister of national defense.

Peachland Holidays on May 29 With Sports and Variety of Games

Softball and Baseball Games Find
Single People More Adept than Married Ones

Peachland celebrated the holiday on Monday, May 29, with a sports day at the Peachland grounds with races, baseball and softball games. The younger ones entered heartily in a series of races after which the married ladies and the married men lost out in games of softball and baseball to the girls and the bachelors but everyone seemed to enjoy the contests. The married softballers were routed by the girls but there was fun for all, both winners and losers. The score being 32 to 9.

The baseball game was a tougher contest in the first few innings, the bachelors scoring the first run which was tied up by the married men who capped it by scoring two runs to take a three to one lead, but this rally was short lived. The bachelors got into high and romped home the winners with a total score of 9 to 3.

The tug of war showed the married men the better and the stronger and they easily took the honors.

The results of the races were as follows: 40 yards, 6 and under girls, Clara Wilson, Margaret Long; boys, Bruce MacKinnon, Arthur Shaw. 40 yards, 10 and under, girls, Lauretta Gaynor, Bertha Wilson; boys, Bill Wilson, Pay Gaynor. 50 yards, 12 and under, girls, Ruth Wilson, Valda Stump; boys, Glen Ferguson, Elmer Ferguson. 75 yards, 14 and under, girls, Ruth Wilson, Eileen Wilson; boys, Elmer Ferguson, Glen Ferguson. 100 yards, women, open, P. Bowering, M. Elkins; men, open, M. Gregory, E. H. Bowering. 75 yards, married men, E. H. Bowering, W. E. Clements. Sack race, girls, Ruth Wilson, Eileen Wilson; boys, Bill Wilson, Elmer Ferguson. Three legged race, Ruth Evans and Lauretta Gaynor, Audrey Long and Helen Long. Shot put, men's open, E. Bowering, W. Borton.

The day finished with a most successful dance in the Athletic hall with music by the Melody boys. Arrangements for the day were under the auspices of the Athletic association.

Travel from Peachland

Many Peachland residents took the trip on Sunday to see the Royal party some going to Revelstoke, other to Sicamous and some to Kamloops, while others took the week-end trip to Vancouver to view the Royal procession from that city, travelling by train and motor. Cars started through to northern points before 4 a.m. Sunday morning and the traffic was continued with a lull through the afternoon and evening, but with the same traffic from midnight all through the night as the cars returned to the south again. The advantage of having either a west or east side road all along the lake was shown by such a day when the traffic on the ferry would have eased considerably had the through traffic been able to take either an east or west side route, thus avoiding the trip across the lake at Kelowna.

High Windstorm

Sunday's wind storm was quite heavy through the afternoon at Peachland, the lake being lashed by the high wind into heavy waves. With lake conditions high, considerable damage was done to the highway south of town as the waves broke over the road. A boat house on the beach was blown over while several telephone poles were blown across the highway along Beach Drive.

Rock Points Dangerous

With the summer traffic now gaining in volume Peachland is still looking for some improvement to the rock points which still create a driving hazard. At the present time these points just south of town are the most dangerous part of the highway from Kelowna south. With modern cars travelling at the high rate of speed which is customary, these sharp turns are a menace to safe driving. An assurance that this work would be done was made last year and it was hoped that the work would have been done during the slack winter months when the traffic was not so heavy. As it is, cars could be detoured while this work is being done but there is no possibility of improving this section of road without the removal of the rock points, which is absolutely necessary.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Barwick returned Monday night from Merritt where they were called on Friday because of the illness of Mr. Barwick's father. Latest reports are that Mr. Barwick is making satisfactory progress toward recovery in the Merritt hospital.

Mrs. C. Haker who was seriously ill in the Kelowna hospital for some weeks has returned to her home here, and is convalescing rapidly.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Trautman, Mr. and Mrs. G. Eddy, Mrs. M. Mackintosh and R. Phillips left on Saturday morning for a motor trip to Seattle and Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Miller and Mrs. A. C. Vincent left last week for a motor trip to Vancouver.

Mrs. V. Milnor Jones, Miss Catherine Long, G. Sanderson, R. Wilson and J. Gummow were passengers on Friday night's train for Vancouver.

Miss Dorothy Miller had the honor of being one of the attendants to the May Queen at the sports day held in Kelowna on May 24.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Garling and children and Mrs. E. Hunt returned Monday morning after spending the week-end at Vernon and Revelstoke.

W. Earl, N. Evans, J. McLaren and W. Sanderson were week end visitors at Revelstoke.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Long, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Long and children, Mr. and Mrs. George Long and family of the Grand Ranch and Dr. W. Buchanan of Tremblay were visitors at Revelstoke on Sunday. Other Peachland visitors included Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Clements and daughters E. Hunt, Mrs. E. Duquemin, Rosemary Wilson, Kathleen Wright, Dorothy Miller, Noreen Gummow, Miss Sheila MacKay, Miss Vivian Vincent.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Maddock, Mrs. G. Watt, H. Sutherland and two sons Earl and Lloyd, were visitors at Blenheim on Sunday.

THREE LEAGUES TO PLAY BALL IN KELOWNA

Kelowna First Team to Travel to Kamloops Next Sunday for
First Game in Northern Loop

TWILIGHT RACE ON

South Okanagan League to Operate with Peachland, Rutland and Kelowna Canadians

Three baseball leagues will operate in Kelowna this summer, it was decided this week with the announcement that the South Okanagan league, split up with the vacancies of Kelowna's first string and Beaverdel, would continue. Kelowna's first team is playing in the North Okanagan-mainline loop against Vernon, Salmon Arm, Revelstoke and Kamloops. The South Okanagan league will comprise Peachland, Kelowna Canadians and Rutland. The third league is the twilight or Central Okanagan group, which has already started play.

Kelowna's first game in the Interior league will be this Sunday at Kamloops, winners of the 1938 championship. Kelowna was to have played Vernon in the opener on May 24, but this game was adjourned because of other holiday attractions conflicting.

Peachland and Rutland will field nearly the same teams as last year in the South Okanagan league, while the Kelowna entry, to be known as the Canadians, will be sponsored by Larry Carscadden, who made application for a franchise at a meeting of this league's officials in Kelowna on Monday afternoon.

Mr. Carscadden has been unable to announce his possible playing strength yet but feels that there is plenty of material available in this city to play two teams.

This Sunday the Canadians play against Rutland in the Kelowna park at 2:30 o'clock, and again on Sunday, June 18 against Peachland.

For the convenience of the readers who are baseball-minded The Courier reproduces the playing schedule of all three leagues:

RUTLAND SCHOOL SIDELIGHTS

The two leading high school students, Jenny Bell and Basil Bond, were elected to represent Rutland school at Vancouver and at the coast, besides attending school, they were present at the annual rally day, the May Day celebrations and also the Royal visit of Their Majesties.

Small bronze medals to commemorate the Royal Visit event were given to the pupils of Rutland school.

On May 24, many of the students attended the May Day celebrations in Kelowna, the main feature being the first coronation of a May Queen in this district.

On Friday the high school students experienced their first auditorium period made possible by the projector which was recently purchased. The program consisted of three very interesting educational slides.

However the greatest attraction this week to the students was the long awaited visit of King George and Queen Elizabeth at Kamloops and Revelstoke. A great percentage of the pupils found it possible to make the trip to one of the cities.

Mrs. F. Waddington, of Vancouver, who has spent the past two weeks at the home of Capt. and Mrs. L. A. Hayman, returned to her home on Tuesday.

Speech to Osoyoos Labor Front Group Arouses Much Speculation

F. C. Schultzy, President, Makes Sweeping Statements in Trying to Justify Hitler's Program

In the Osoyoos district, discussion as to just what F. C. Schultzy, president of the Osoyoos branch of the German Labor Front, had stated in his May Day address to Labor Front sympathizers became so rife that a translation was obtained. Herewith is a translation of Mr. Schultzy's speech:

The existence of the great National Socialist idea, all German comrades, without rank or stand to a true standard of organization, was already given over to the German Labor Front by the Fuehrer in his first year of power. How far it was under the leadership of Dr. Robert Ley in the program of the German Labor Front and what was done will be shown on the first of May this year. Of every town, city, and village in Germany a report will be given to all peoples in the world that Germany lives in happiness and joy which in turn puts all the other people in the world in a blind jealousy.

As far as those Germans at home and abroad are concerned, those people of countries in sympathy with Germany enjoy the greatness and strength of Germany as much as we do. The jealousy of the enemy press cannot do us any more harm. Their brothers and sisters (Press) in Germany have been dead for six years and the people of Germany do not shed any tears for them.

"Hatred and Propaganda"

We know today only too well that the seeds of hatred and propaganda that have been spread among the German people for over 30 years was the main factor in bringing about the destruction of our Homeland. Had Hitler, in the last second, not obstructed this hatred and propaganda, we would still be slaves even today. Before the National Socialist revolution we were not only looked upon as slaves but even handled as slaves by the world at large.

When the Jewish capitalist press, especially on this continent, now seem to have sorrow for the German working class and at the same time try to throw a wrench between the masses and their leader, it is looked upon by Germans and every other sensible person as a childish manoeuvre which has lost all its driving force. Those apostles of Justice (press) have forgotten that a few years ago they were not only trying to make slaves out of Germans but to completely destroy them.

Hunger Blockade Not Forgotten

The hunger blockade during the World War is not yet forgotten, it is still in our memory that not only the army but also hundreds of thousands of harmless workers, women and children lost their lives. With great joy they looked upon the Red revolution after the war, which ate up the flesh of the German worker. There was no mercy shown on our suppressed infatuation which robbed us of our last bitterly-earned cent. It was no wonder to us then that a statesman wanted to get rid of 20 million Germans with one stroke. They gave no thought for help to the seven million unemployed morally disrupted, thousands who, in the end, took their lives.

Hand in hand stood the dark might of the Press with the German labor movement to destroy the German strength and unity. Looking back, we think only of the bitterness of class war when celebrating May 1. There were always non-Aryan labor leaders with their red, yellow and black battalions marching with these to demonstrate their power which in reality did not even exist.

"Dirty Treaty of Versailles"

This brought about regular bloody clashes which ended with the killing of masses and was let go on and kept secret by the authorities. The paid army, which was dictated to by our enemies, was locked up in the barracks. This all happened under the command of the shaky government, which was dictated under the Jewish capitalist terror. That these bloody clashes unfolded under the National Socialist German Labor Front with their brother organizations was proof that those red, yellow and black labor leaders did not care about the German workers, in fact just the reverse. With their knowledge they worked hard on the breaking up and killing of the German people. Those vampires were smuggled into Germany and had nothing in their soul in common with the German people. The more they made use of the fact to keep their fat labor leaders in power. The fruit of their pitiful work and system was shown at the end of the war by the dirty treaty of Versailles, when our 65 million people stood before bankruptcy which the world had never seen before. For this we are thankful to Messrs. Noske, Scheidemann, Ebert, Severing, Bruening and their co-workers, who sold the Fatherland to our enemies, as well as taking upon themselves the obligation of reparations. All these creatures were at that time cheered by the German workers as well as the picture of August Bebel, Karl Marx and the Red Hyena Rosa Luxemburg, which was hung up in every Red worker's home. We know to day that they were traitors to the German workers in the greatest sense, from which sin not even their grave can free them. Some of us today can still remember the time when we with our hard-earned money supported that clique.

Corruption Unbelievable

As far as the Labor organizations are concerned, it shows us when the National Socialist organization took over on May 2, 1933 the German Labor Front gave us a clean picture of it. Corruption in unbelievable proportions from the Central Bureau down to the smallest country group was discovered. It was found that the organization had borrowed out sums of money to their Jewish friends which was never paid back. Next they found out the chronic membership disappearance. Most of the members were out of work, the treasury empty and nothing to account for it. Not even one of those hero leaders who carried placards by the hundreds on the First of May with the slogan "All Power to the Workers" offered any opposition. How does it look today?

All Share New Holiday

Already during the first weeks of Hitler's regime the Fuehrer made the First of May into a national holiday on which day, no matter what rank laborer, officer, soldier, artist or peasant—they all share in it. They are today all sympathetic helpers to the Fuehrer to create and build up the Third Reich on the security and freedom of the German Fatherland. On this long-awaited national holiday this year, too, the First of May will be celebrated. For us Germans abroad, especially in Canada, without the same luck as the Jewish immigrant, this First of May will not bring a great change in our daily life. The more we feel in sympathy with the happening in the Fatherland and the National Socialist development. This development was outlined by the Fuehrer in his last New Year's message to all the Germans. We Germans abroad have heard with joy what the Fuehrer said,

BIG CROWDS AT SPECIAL SHOWS BY GIRL GUIDES

Nine Hundred See Entertainment at Scout Hall Which Raised Funds to Send Girls to Revelstoke to Greet Their Majesties

Nine hundred persons attended the special entertainment held in the Kelowna Scout hall on Friday afternoon and evening sponsored by the Kelowna Girl Guide Company, Stockwell's Ltd., the Kelowna Hardware Co., Ltd., Kelowna Pipe Band and Frigidare Corp. of Canada. In the afternoon there was an attendance of four hundred and in the evening the Scout Hall was well filled with a crowd of five hundred.

The evening opened with a singing group of Guides and Brownies presenting "The Two Magicians," "Dream Angus," "The Fairy Shoemaker," "Dreams," and "Robin-a-Thrush." Then followed Jennie Senger in a vocal solo "Early One Morning" and Kathie Senger in "Stars All Dotted over the Sky." Philmaker Shoemaker and Mary Leier were applauded in their duet, "Sympathy."

Then came the Girl Guides with a Contra Dance, the Brownies dancing the "Ace of Diamonds" and the Girl Guides with the beautiful dance Komarno. All these were folk dances and quite delightful.

The singing game by the Brownies, "Ten Little Brownie Girls" was enthusiastically received, followed by a vocal duet, "Dutch Kinterkanten." Phil Schumaker's vocal solo "Song of the Nativity" was well received as was Lauretta McInroy's "Linden Lea." A singing group of Guides and Brownies concluded their part of the entertainment with four songs, "Foolish Boy," "Fairy Lullaby," "Dabbling in the Dew," "Old Woman and the Pedlar."

Entire proceeds were used to defray the expenses of the Guides and Brownies to see Their Majesties at Revelstoke and 43 Guides and Brownies with three Guides made the trip. Mrs. H. W. Arbuckle reports.

Four moving pictures were displayed as another section of the entertainment, the first showing the manufacture of Frigidare refrigerators, and the others being "Whirls Across Africa," Coronation pictures and a sport-light.

We have understood his speech and consider it our duty to the Fatherland more than our brother who lives there because we can better understand this. For the honor of the German people this can all be thanked to the National Socialist movement. This was all done without the sword or bloodshed. It was all done by a united German state which was created by the Fuehrer. Through this was organized the National Kraft Durch Freude ("Strength through Joy"). We look today with pride and joy on the N.S. Kraft Durch Freude for what it did during the last short six years. It had been forecast by other countries that the National Socialists could not exist and this therefore makes us doubly proud. It is impossible today that the German people would want to live without this movement. Today the working class in Germany enjoys all the cultural things such as travel, theatre, etc., which was declared as a ridiculous idea by our enemies. The National Socialist Kraft Durch Freude has developed into the largest social organization in the world and creates the best social living standard for the working class.

"A Victory for the Worker"

I remember that over 150,000 comrades had the pleasure to enjoy trips during their summer and winter holidays from Germany to as far as Africa. This all means a victory for the worker of which he had never even dreamed before. I remember my neighbor in the Old Country who had to work day by day for the past 60 years near a hot stove fire. He, too, now enjoys his six days' summer holiday in the mountains. Today he takes his holidays on the Island of Rugen. This shows the National Socialist movement has done something which the International Labor movement had never done. I further remember of the construction of the People's Automobile factory, which will in a few years give an opportunity for every family to have their own car. I could further tell you of hundreds of statistical developments which have taken place under the direction of the N.S. Kraft Durch Freude which have made the people in Germany happy once more.

We members of the German movement on this national holiday declare that the results of our endeavors especially our enlightening activities on behalf of our people have been in a very satisfactory manner. We should succeed in the near future in uniting all our Nationals in Canada if each of you who are here present take part in service of the undertaking. You can do this with so much greater pleasure and readiness because the fundamentals of the German movement undoubtedly are the noblest that have ever been put out by a political economical union, and which in no manner can conflict with the law of the hospital-ity of Canada. Following these fundamentals we do no more than fulfill our duty to humanity as honest and conscientious Germans and shall not only command the respect of every inhabitant (native) but also contribute towards bringing the two nations closer together. The best fruits, however, which the Fuehrer with his National Socialist movement has created and in respect of which, and which the world envies us today, the mighty almost fabulous uprise in the whole economic life in Germany, which gives every National the right to a place in the labor market and takes away all the anxieties of existence.

We Germans abroad appreciate these facts more than our brothers in the Fatherland, and therefore we should acknowledge ourselves to the German people's unity, not with words alone but with our hearts. Heil Hitler!

RUTLAND WELL REPRESENTED AT REVELSTOKE

One Hundred and Fifty Make Trip in Cars and Train—Guides, Scouts and Cubs Present

Rutland was well represented at Revelstoke on Sunday, May 28th, on the occasion of the royal visit, about 75 Guides, Scouts and Cubs being present and probably an equal number of adults and young people not connected with these organizations. The large majority made their way by train, but there was also a considerable number of cars on the road. The Girl Guides were particularly honored when both the King and the Queen spoke to Miss Evelyn Scott, the Guide Captain, inquiring as to the number of Guides present, how far they had come and expressing regret that they had such a long wait.

The royal couple walked along the line of Legion members, Scouts, Cubs and Guides, and returned along the platform to their car at the end of the train, so that all had an excellent view of Their Majesties and many snapshots were taken which will provide a treasured record of the event.

The trip by train proved a great outing for the youngsters, some of whom had never been on a train before. Scout Frank Stolz was much in demand with his guitar, providing entertainment on the trip both going and returning.

Twenty Girl Guides were in the party to Revelstoke, and in addition to the Captain, two Lieutenants, Miss Vivian French and Miss Alwina Kitch were also in attendance. Thirty-seven Boy Scouts made up the largest unit in the representation from Rutland, under Scoutmaster A. W. Gray and Troop Leader Dennis Reid, and there were sixteen Wolf Cubs, under the supervision of Assistant Scoutmaster Peter Ritchie.

Owing to the tie-up of traffic on the road near Taft those going by car took longer to make the trip than those going by train. Some local people left their cars at Taft and took the train from there to Revelstoke and back to Taft again in the evening, avoiding the tie-up at the mud-hole.

Eldred Howes and family are again resident in the district after having spent the winter in Vancouver. They have recently rented the old Stoddart house, and will reside there for the summer.

Mrs. Wm. Hardie and Miss Dorothy Cross were among Rutland people who have gone to Vancouver for the week.

GLENMORE MAKES AFGHAN FOR PREVENTORIUM

W.A. Busy with Plans for Summer Meetings—Mosquito Control Work Has Shown Fine Results

The Glenmore W.A. held its regular monthly meeting on Friday last at the home of Mrs. G. C. Hume. The wool afghan, which the members are making for the Preventorium is almost completed and will be finished within a few days of the opening of the institution. It was decided also to hold a shower and tea in aid of the Preventorium towards the end of June at the home of Mrs. L. E. Marshall. The June meeting will be held at Mrs. J. Byrns home at the Five Bridges, and on June 9th, the members will meet with the W. A. members from Beauvau and Rutland, for their annual rally at the home of Mrs. Pound at Rutland.

Mrs. Percy Mallard, a resident of Glenmore until a year ago when they moved to Hollywood, is a patient in Kelowna hospital.

Mrs. J. A. Noyes and two children, Kathleen and John motored up on Saturday, spending Saturday night and Sunday night at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. G. C. Hume. On Sunday, they, in company with the Hume family, continued on to Revelstoke to see the Royal party, as did many of the Glenmore people, while others went to Kamloops or Sicamous.

The second codling moth spray is now being applied by fruit growers, but under difficulties on account of wind.

Those who put forth any effort this year to control mosquitoes are surely reaping the benefit, as there has, so far this spring, been no trouble whatever with the pests, only an odd one end to see the visit of the King and Queen to the coast city.

A meeting was held in the community hall on Friday last, under the auspices of the dramatic society to arrange for a community concert and dance to raise the balance of the money needed to pay off the indebtedness on the new Recreational Park. Friday, June 9th, was chosen as the night, and all the organizations of the community are co-operating and taking some part of the program or doing some of the work entailed by the affair.

being seen, and then we look twice to see if it really is a mosquito. Some live larvae were seen in some of the sloughs or water holes last week, and these were promptly sprayed again, and unless the high winds bring them from another district, it now looks as though we will be free from mosquitoes and able to enjoy ourselves in the open for this summer.

Christopher Columbus set out on his voyage of discovery on a Friday.

loops has there been such an awe-inspiring sight. When the royal train arrived on C.P.R. track No. 2, Their Majesties were greeted with a wave of applause which was almost deafening. The station platform and reception stand were lighted by high-powered floodlights. At the foot of the stand and facing the platform were three thousand school children, each one equipped with a bright Union Jack which were waved with the vigour and enthusiasm only a child can show.

Back of the children, as far as the eye could see, were row upon row of adults packed in so closely that the officials feared they would press forward and trample on the children. In the distance it was known that another fifteen hundred were placed up on specially-constructed stands, but from the station platform they could not be seen.

Rooftops Jammed

But what you could see were the rooftops jammed tight with faithful Kamloops citizens who had purchased seats on these favored posts for their brief glimpse of the Royal party.

It was such a sight that could never be equalled again. The entire Kamloops country had been stripped of its residents. They had converged on this city, oldest in this section of the Interior. They had poured down from the lower Cariboo country, they were there from Merritt and other parts of the Nicola Valley.

From the North Thompson country they had come in droves and down the Valley from Salmon Arm and Armstrong they had come. Every point in the Okanagan Valley was represented at Kamloops, it appeared, as familiar faces could be seen here and there.

No rain fell to mark the beauty of the scene. A high wind had blown for a time earlier in the day but at night the sky was peaceful and cloudless, and the hills appeared in nicely rounded silhouette as far as the eye could see. It was a perfect setting for such an auspicious occasion.

First came the pilot train and as one voice the children's cries, mingled with those of the adults, arose. Many of the children thought this was the royal train but they were not fooled for long.

Veterans and Rangers

Martial music rang out time and again from the scarlet-coated musicians of the Rocky Mountain Rangers splendid band. Along the rails on track No. 3, just past where the rear platform of the Royal train would stop, stood veterans of the world war standing smartly at attention. During the long wait prior to the train's arrival, these ex-soldiers who fought so valiantly to keep the great British Empire intact, would burst forth singing snatches of old war-time songs. They were a happy lot.

Flanking the veterans were the Rocky Mountain Rangers, nearly 200 strong, looking smart in their new issue of Canadian khaki uniforms, and led by Col. Vickers, D.S.O., the youngest Canadian officer to be awarded this coveted honor.

During the afternoon, the Sea Scouts bugle band, of Vernon, led by three smartly-attired drum majorettes, paraded the streets and aided in giving the city a festive air, but they did not appear in the ceremonies in the evening, although they could be seen scattered through the huge throng.

More than five hours before the Royal train arrived, the spectators began to line the fence on the station lawn, and among these persons could be seen many familiar Kelowna faces.

As the guests arrived, there were some faces which were familiar from the Okanagan. Mayor Harry Bowman was there with his daughter, while Reeve C. E. Bentley of Summerland was also in the enclosure.

Half Hour Late

The train was due to arrive at 9:35 o'clock Sunday night at Kamloops, but due to the many appearances made at the various centres east of that city, the Royal party did not appear until 10 o'clock. But there wasn't a sign of the crowd becoming restless and everyone seemed in the happiest state of mind.

For two minutes after they appeared on the rear platform, the King and Queen stood, silently looking over the immense crowd and seeming to soak in the great tribute from the Interior's loyal subjects whose cheers rose, wave on wave, to a higher and higher pitch. Then the King moved down to the platform, followed by Her Majesty. They were accompanied by Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Premier of Canada and were met by Mayor C. E. Scanlan, of Kamloops, who introduced Mrs. Scanlan.

The band struck up "God Save the King," and the entire assembly joined in the song, with more feeling than ever before in their lives. A bouquet of lovely roses and sweet peas were presented by Mrs. Scanlan to Queen Elizabeth and a few words of the party moved up the red carpeted stairway to the stand, which was gay with purple and gold coverings, as well as red, white and blue bunting and gay flags.

The height of the welcome was reached as Their Majesties took their positions on the reception stand. In turn, the Kamloops aldermen and their wives were introduced, as follows: Alderman G. D. Brown and Mrs. Brown, Alderman G. R. Williams and Mrs. Williams, Alderman C. Spencer and Mrs. Spencer, Alderman C. H. Ellis and Mrs. Ellis, Alderman F. W. Scott and Mrs. Scott and Alderman B. A. Edwards and Mrs. Edwards. Then followed A. W. Jackson, city clerk.

R. H. Carson, M.L.A. and Mrs. Carson were then presented followed by Judge J. D. Swanson and Mrs. Swanson. Then came Capt. E. D. Bellew, V.C., the only veteran in the Interior possessing this coveted award for valor in the field. Last on the reception list was Col. Vickers.

Escort of Mounties

Stepping down on the east side of the platform, the King and Queen moved slowly forward to the row upon row of children, the escort of Royal Canadian Mounted Policemen, resplendent in their scarlet uniforms, providing a pleasing contrast to the neat blue suit worn by King George and the plain but smartly modelled light blue gown which adorned Her Majesty, set off as it was with a smart blue hat, touched with scarlet trimming.

The Royal couple moved slowly along the west side of the group and met a few of the special guests, briefly shaking their hands and conversing shortly. As they became lost to sight of many in the far ranks, a section away back in the crowd started to chant:

"We want the Queen."

Other sections took up the call and still other sections started the chant: "We want the King."

Their Majesties seemed to enjoy this tribute and laughed the more. Their pleasant smiles and quiet graciousness proved electrifying to the huge throng and the cheers were renewed with increased vigor.

Near the end of the line of guests the King and Queen stopped to converse with one middle-aged lady, Mrs. Bivar from Salmon Arm. She is the widow of Capt. Bivar, an Imperial veteran who was a member of the independent force of the Royal Air Force. The late Capt. Bivar served with His Majesty for three months in 1918 in this special group.

Afterwards, on June 14, 1919, in London, a banquet was given by the independent force, at which King George was present. On Sunday Mrs. Bivar showed King George a menu of the banquet, on which were many autographs, but the especial one of which she is justly proud, is right at the top of the front page of the menu. It is "Albert", the King's signature before he ascended the throne.

Mrs. Bivar, when interviewed directly after Their Majesties had passed along the line, was endeavoring to hide her excitement, but there was a justifiable pride in her voice as she told of her husband's war record. He died a short time ago following an accident and Their Majesties expressed their sympathy.

Greatest Thrill

New to Mrs. Bivar was a man who had just obtained the greatest thrill of his life. He was Earl Peters who claims to have driven King George from the Swiss border to Austria just after the signing of the armistice. He is a gasoline agent in Kamloops now.

"He came up and said 'Hello Peters,'" Mr. Peters excitedly said of King George. "It was just as if I had seen him yesterday. He was no excited word would hardly come out."

Then the King and Queen moved on to the line of waiting veterans many of whom had seen the King many times during the world war. One veteran Jack Knox of Kamloops handed the Queen an envelope containing a silver Canadian dollar.

Early the proud man in the group of veterans was Lieut. O. B. P. All kinds of Kelowna manager of the Okanagan Loan & Investment Trust Co. He obtained the military cross for conspicuous bravery at Plamenets near Amiens, in August, 1918.

"Yes I shook hands with the King," Mr. Allens excitedly told The Courier representative about two minutes after "He asked me when I came out to Canada and what my business was. When I told him, he asked if my business was doing well and I replied 'Yes, it's doing nicely, thank you.'"

"The Queen then remarked what a fine group of veterans had gathered here, and I replied: "We are all delighted to see you."

Walking down the line of veterans a little farther, your reporter's arm was grasped by another excited returned man. It was Corp. L. B. Fuls, of Peachland, who was so electrified with the thrill of meeting the Queen that he could hardly contain himself.

"Serve Her With My Life"

"She wanted to know where I came from in the Old Country and where I had served overseas. I told her I would willingly serve her with my life."

In the meantime, Their Majesties had not seen enough of the kiddies and Her Majesty led the way back in front of the reception stand to view once again her wildly cheering young subjects. There were 300 Indian pupils from the nearby Indian school gathered there with the white children and no matter what race or creed were represented, they were all British subjects and loved Their Majesties with a wholehearted respect which the simple grace of the Royal couple can not help inspiring.

Then they proceeded back on the platform where the chief of the Indian reserve was presented and the colors of the Rocky Mountain Rangers regiment were proudly displayed on the stand.

As they mounted the rear platform once more, the veterans burst into song again, singing: "For They are Jolly Good Fellows." The entire crowd took up the song.

Cheer after cheer rose as Their Majesties stood for almost five minutes on the royal train. One gray-haired veteran, standing beside me, who proudly said his name was Gus Robinson, of the Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders, was the leader of the veterans in enthusiasm and he broke ranks to jump out in front and lead in the shouts of joy.

The faces of the King and Queen were wreathed in happy smiles at this great tribute from those loyal subjects so many thousands miles away from England near the shores of the mighty Pacific, and helping to build up a comparatively new country free from strife.

The crowd stood waiting until the train had vanished into the night down the long railway line before dispersing. It had been a half hour which 12,000 persons will never forget.

Stayed Half Hour

Earlier in the day, an official report had been received that the anticipated stop of 15 minutes would be cut to ten, but actually, a good half hour lapsed before the Royal train slowly picked up speed and the twelve magnificent coaches slid out of the station.

From Kelowna district about 150 persons travelled to Kamloops by Canadian National. Another 150 went by auto. When the special C.N. train moved out of Kelowna at 12:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, bound for Kamloops, there 67 Kelowna persons en-trained, but by the time it reached Kamloops it contained 209 persons.

Few persons realized the interest with which the outside world awaited the first official stop in B.C. of the Royal train at Kamloops. From the Kamloops station five direct telegraph wires were connected with leading newspapers in New York, Buffalo, Montreal and Toronto.

Hundreds of special officers were hired for the day to ensure that the huge crowd remained orderly and to direct the dense traffic, as the Kamloops population had been doubled for the day.

The provincial police, under Inspector John Shirras, were in charge of the policing duties and so well had the plans been laid that every movement went off without a hitch.

It was stated in Kamloops that one of the special engines which will pull the Royal train over Canadian National tracks on the return trip was being prepared in the Kamloops shops. The engine has been guarded night and day. Every ounce of coal is sifed, and even the trainmen who enter the shop to tend to the engine are searched carefully.

Provincial police were worried over recent thefts of dynamite throughout the Interior. Recently two youths were picked up on the Kamloops reserve having dynamite in their possession. They were arrested and remained incarcerated until the Royal train had passed through.

All dynamite in the section houses along the railway tracks on both railways was called in to central headquarters and guarded carefully many days prior to the arrival of Their Majesties, it is understood, so that there could be no chance of danger to the Royal couple from any fanatic.

Deepest Hole in Atlantic

Discovery of the deepest hole yet found in the Atlantic Ocean was reported by the Navy's hydrographic office. It is about 60 miles north of Cape Engano on the east side of the Caribbean island of Hispaniola, and is 28,680 feet, or nearly five and a half miles deep. The depression was recorded by a sonic, or echo depth finder.

FORMER KELOWNA GIRL MARRIES ROSSLAND MAN

Gwendolyn Mary Lowery United to Gilbert M. Kay in Pleasing Ceremony at Nelson

A quiet but impressive wedding was solemnized by Rev. W. J. Silverwood in the Church of the Redeemer, Nelson, B.C., at 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday, May 23rd, when Gwendolyn Mary, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Lowery, Nelson, became the bride of Gilbert Marshall Kay, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Kay of Rossland.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked smart in a tailored black and white pin check suit with paddy green accessories and wore a corsage of rosebuds and lily-of-the-valley.

After the wedding, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents with only immediate relatives and friends present.

The rooms were tastefully decorated with a profusion of spring flowers. The tea-table, covered with a handsome lace cloth, was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake which was cut by the bride, assisted by the groom.

Immediately after the reception the happy couple left on their honeymoon trip by car for Spokane, Seattle and coast cities. Upon their return on June 8th, Mr. and Mrs. Kay will reside at 2146 Topping St., Trail.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowery and their daughter, Gwen, are well known in Kelowna and Mrs. William Laws, Bankhead, is a sister of Mrs. Lowery. The bride was a public and high school girl in Kelowna and was popular in musical circles, especially in Okanagan musical festivals. Mrs. Lowery was a committee member in the festival for the first three years of its existence.

back and permit the children to come closer. Nearly a hundred filed past the rear end of the train and both the King and Queen spoke to several of them.

Their Majesties also chatted with several adults, asking them about the people and where they came from. His Majesty expressed great interest in the veterans who had lined the platform and asked about their military service.

One unconfirmed story has it that one man shouted "Did you get the fish?" referring to fish he had caught that morning and sent to the Royal train. The story has it that the King called the man over and chatted with him, thanking him for the fish. One erroneous report stated that there were only about six people at Sicamous and that Their Majesties shook hands with them all.

The crowd at Sicamous was composed of many Okanagan people, their number being swelled by the occupants of ninety-seven cars which had turned back from Revelstoke when it was reported that the road was impassable.

The weather man frowned for the greater part of the day and rain poured from the heavens. Most of the spectators got very wet but the sky cleared late in the afternoon and the sun shone brightly during the Royal stop.

A number of Valley residents went to Salmon Arm where they saw the Queen on the rear platform of the train as it moved slowly through the station. The story has it that the King

Overwhelming Majority in Favor of C.P.R. Property Purchase by City

Voters Approved Property Deal by Majority of 322 to 57—May or is Pleased Kelowna voters gave an overwhelming majority to the money-by-law submitted by the city of Kelowna on Thursday, May 25, asking for authorization to purchase the C.P.R. lake-shore property at the foot of Bernard avenue, exchange half of it with the provincial government for the Bernard avenue lot on which the public works department building now stands, and in turn resell the latter two valuable business lots to A. C. Bennett, Kelowna contractor.

There were 322 votes registered in favor of the property deal with 57 against and one spoiled ballot. The total vote cast was 380, and the three-fifths majority necessary to carry the by-law was 228. Therefore, the majority was more than 100 votes in excess of the majority required to pass the measure. The percentage in favor of the by-law passing was 84 per cent.

G. H. Dunn was returning officer last Thursday. The polls opened in the city council chamber at 8 a.m. and closed at 8 p.m. At first, the voting was slow, but when a number of interested parties commenced telephoning in an endeavor to get out the vote, more interest was aroused. At 2 o'clock on Thursday afternoon only 119 votes had been cast and without a concentrated drive, it is doubtful if more than 250 votes would have been registered.

"We are delighted with the result," declared Mayor O. L. Jones at the conclusion of the voting. "I wish you would tell the people that the council appreciates the support which the voters accorded our proposal, as the council considered this was an opportunity which should be acted upon immediately," he declared to The Courier Thursday evening.

VERNON AIRPORT IS NOW CONDEMNED

William Lawson, Chief Airport Inspector Says Unsuitable

Vernon's airport is apparently doomed as a base for commercial planes. This unfortunate fact was made plain to civic officials last week following the visit there of William Lawson, chief airport inspector for Western Canada, with headquarters at Regina. Shown over the present site, to the south of the city, Mr. Lawson flatly said the field was unsuitable. The grade is wrong and the runways not large enough, he declared. Small craft may use the port as in the past, however. Mr. Lawson advised against any further expenditures on the port.

Minimum requirements for a field suitable for large modern commercial planes were given as a width of 900 feet and runways one mile long. This report was given by Mayor Harry Bowman at the city council session. Mr. Lawson was conducted over various possible sites by Mayor Bowman and by others while in Vernon.

One suggestion made by the inspector was that a field might be constructed suitable for joint use of Vernon and Armstrong.

Three tracings of a contour map of the district will be forwarded to Mr. Lawson by the city, it was decided by the Council.

Many Okanagan Mission People Are Travelling Now or are Returning from Visits

Many Okanagan Mission residents joined the crowds on Sunday heading north to the main line to see Their Majesties at Revelstoke or Kamloops; a number also went to Sicamous. School children enjoyed a holiday on Monday to enable them to rest after a strenuous and memorable day.

H. W. Ashbery drove the Mission stage bus to Vancouver last Friday, May 26th, with the Kelowna cricket team that has been playing at the coast. Donald Hall was the only local member on the team. John Stainer went as umpire and Ronald McClymont also accompanied the party, which stayed over to witness the Royal visit and returned on Tuesday.

Miss Dorothy Baldwin returned last Friday from her visit to Spokane. She was accompanied by Miss Gertrude Poston and Miss Maud Poston, of Spokane who are visiting their sister, Mrs. St. George P. Baldwin, in the Mission.

Mrs. L. Evans and her daughter Daphne left on Tuesday, May 23, on a visit to Lavington for several days.

Another $11,000 Added to Building Permit Total for Month of May

Kelowna Continues to Boom Ahead as More New Houses Start and Many Repairs Undertaken

Another $11,000 was added to the rapidly-growing building permit total for 1939 for the city of Kelowna during the month of May, making the grand total for the first five months of the year stand at $117,143. The new Kelowna high school unit is progressing well, as are the addition to the Kelowna Creamery Ltd. and the Kelowna Sanitary Dairy's new premises at the corner of Ellis and Lawrence.

Although the building permits are high for so early in the year, many other big projects are in the offing. The hospital society is making slow headway towards the ultimate start on the new hospital which will cost about $130,000, and other structures are being planned for the future. The sewerage extension program, if the city can obtain cheap money, will run into many thousands of dollars.

But the surest sign of Kelowna's progress in the building trade in the number of new homes being constructed. More than $8,000 of the May building total was made up of new homes, while the other permits were for necessary alterations, repairs and additions to present homes.

Following are the permits issued in May: Mrs. Sheila LaFleche, alteration, $400; J. E. Large, residence, $750; Mrs. E. Parish, residence, $1,000; Rudolph Yorkschat, addition, $200; H. A. Blakeborough, addition, $750; R. A. Webster, addition, $165; G. D. Sutherland, porch addition, $60; Sutherland Holding Co., child's playhouse, $50; J. T. Mitchell, residence, $3,350; W. G. Miller, addition and alteration, $200; O. L. Jones, alteration and repairs, $500; John T. Cave, addition, $120; Miss D. Teague, garage and woodshed, $100; Deane & Ryan, alteration to roof, $150; A. Ciaccia, addition, $300; T. Greenwood, residence, $3,250.

MAN MYSTERIOUSLY DISAPPEARS FROM TADANAC PLANT

N. J. Izowsky's Brother-in-law Cannot be Found After Disappearing from Furnace Floor

Nestor J. Izowsky, of The Courier staff, was called to Trail on Thursday last owing to the mysterious disappearance of his brother-in-law, James Calhoun O'Ruark, 34, who was last seen on the feed floor of the lead furnaces of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co.'s Tadanac smelter at 8:50 p.m. Wednesday, May 24.

William Campbell, Tadanac chief of police, has circulated all B.C. police departments, and a description of the missing man has been broadcast over long and short wave radio. Trail city police also were notified.

Mr. O'Ruark's description follows: Weight 157 pounds; height 5 feet 5 inches; fair complexion; dark brown hair; dark brown eyes; normal speech; last seen wearing blue pants and blue shirt and "safety" boots; and was bareheaded.

Mr. O'Ruark came on shift Wednesday at 3 p.m. and was last seen at 8:50 p.m. by Mike Campanelli, his immediate superior, who first noticed he was missing. He had been working on No. 12 lead well under R. Ferguson, shift boss. O'Ruark's hat was found on the feed floor nine feet from No. 11 furnace, a place where he did not work.

After a complete investigation, company officials today stated it was highly improbable that the man could have got into the furnace, and there was no indication of it.

The missing man had told a workmate he was suffering from diarrhoea, and if he did not show up to look for him in the washroom on the feed floor.

Mrs. O'Ruark, his wife, told Company officials he had been in happy spirits about the house before leaving for work and was in normal health.

CANADIAN APPLE SALES ON DECLINE

France Taking Less Canuck Supplies in Favor of American

For the second year in succession Canadian sales to France have decreased and during the current year they will be almost nonexistent, states J. P. Macdonald, assistant Canadian commercial attaché in Paris. American supplies have been ample and cheap and French crops have generally been good with the result that imported apples are expensive to the French purse.

Besides the fact that Canadian prices have been higher than American there is an inconsistency of supply due to the overwhelming importance of the British market. Generally apples will only be offered on the continent in proportion to the excess supplies which cannot be marketed there.

The result is that exporters will one year drop their contacts in France only to attempt the next to resume their former position. But the importers having been in constant touch with American supplies, are bound to re-approach by taking Canada as a surplus factor in the market and using Canadian supplies as a form of pressure on American prices. As exporters find France merely an occasional convenience, so the importers see Canadian supplies in the same light.

Ireland has discovered that the harp long associated with the country is seldom heard there, and a campaign to popularize the instrument has been started.
